English Syllabus

◆ RATIONALE

It is envisaged that persons certified by the Caribbean Examinations Council (CXC) will demonstrate the ability to understand and appreciate what they listen to, read and view, and the ability to express themselves clearly in speech and in writing. The teaching and testing of English is founded on the premise that the abilities mentioned are fostered by the study of language and literature, separately and jointly, and that the abilities are vital factors in managing personal and social well-being. Indeed, in the current socio-political world climates, the study of language and literature underpins our understanding of human dynamics, and prepares us to respond critically to the wealth of material that bombards our lives through the media.

*The CSEC® English syllabus is organised for examination as English A and English B. The syllabus objectives are organised under understanding and expression in order to guide both content development and the assessment scheme. Understanding indicates more than basic comprehension, and Expression is of more significance than the ability to employ structural and grammatical correctness. The syllabus seeks to express and invite the recognition of Reflection as being intrinsic to both. *English A emphasises the development of oral and written language skills through a variety of strategies. English B provides opportunities for students to explore and respond critically to specific literary texts, to observe and appreciate the author’s craft, and to make meaningful connections with human daily interactions. The language and literature syllabus document recognises the separate value of these areas, but advocates an approach to teaching that creates a strong inter-relatedness of the two. The principle is that structured language learning situations which use literature, provide opportunity for guided reflection on, and understanding of, the human condition and life itself. It also promotes meaningful comprehension, acquisition of grammatical correctness and other communication skills.

This integrated syllabus provides a map to help students to develop the ability to read and enjoy literary texts; to explore social and moral issues using the skills acquired while learning to ‘read’ texts; to evaluate the way their personal ownership of language promotes and optimises their own growth; and creates opportunity to practise using the acquired language to express themselves effectively. In short, the syllabus crafts an essential interweaving of literature and language study as the platform for raising UNESCO’s “Pillars of Learning”: to know, to do, to live together, to be, and to transform self and society. Inter-related study helps the instructor to shape the many-faceted image of the ‘ideal’ Caribbean person envisaged by the syllabus. That person is a social being who respects human life itself and values the fundamentals of that life - family, community, diversity, rights and freedoms which characterise our area. The ideal also understands and appreciates the meanings and nuances of environment, ethnicity, culture, imagination, entrepreneurship and accountability.

Further, the English Syllabus encourages receptive and expressive exploration of the three major literary genres - Drama, Poetry, and Prose – and the varieties related to those major divisions – in order to develop awareness of and familiarity with the many functions and purposes of language. It is recognised that a good language syllabus provides opportunity to discover and appreciate that the five facets of the language arts: listening, speaking, reading, writing and viewing. In addition, this syllabus strongly promotes reflection on the principle that reflection is the tool which helps individuals to clarify their own understanding, and enables them to provide themselves and others with satisfying responses. This recognition is seen as being fundamental if teachers are to help students to reach their full creative potential. The literature of the region is fore-grounded so as to foster the positive sense of selfhood and Caribbean-ness. The focus encourages recognising our region's talents, valuing regional varieties of language, and developing the skills of selecting form, tone and register appropriate to the transactional context. The syllabus also recognises that language is essential to basic, effective transactions – personal, social, scientific, technical and business. Literary texts are also chosen, therefore, to help in the development of appropriate responses to general human behaviours, to promote understanding of the human condition.

◆ AIMS

The syllabus aims to:

- 1. develop the ability to use the spoken language, Caribbean Standard English (CSE¹);*
- 2. develop the ability to understand and respond to spoken and written Caribbean Standard English;*
- 3. develop the ability to use language effectively for communicating across cultures at different levels, that is, intra-personal, inter-personal and groups;*
- 4. develop the ability to monitor personal thinking processes through the application of meta-cognitive strategies;*
- 5. develop the ability to articulate personal experiences (real or imagined) in spoken and written language;*
- 6. promote in students a willingness and ability to inform themselves about, and to contribute reasoned opinions on social issues;*
- 7. promote an appreciation of the variety of purposes for which language is used;*
- 8. promote an understanding and appreciation for the place and value of the varieties of English and of the dialects and creoles of the Caribbean and other regions in different social and cultural contexts;*
- 9. develop a critical awareness of the use of language devices used for narrative, descriptive, argumentative and expository writing;*
- 10. develop the ability to respond to literature for pleasure and insight, to recognise and respond to the writer's craft, and to make sensitive appraisals of value judgements and other concepts expressed in Literature;*
- 11. use knowledge of the various forms of information for the students' own enlightenment, while recognising the importance of acknowledging the contribution of such sources to their own ideas; and,*
- 12. develop the capacity to assess the reliability of sources of information including those available on the Internet.*

◆ SKILLS AND ABILITIES TO BE ASSESSED

The skills and abilities are categorised under the two broad headings: Understanding, the decoding and interpreting of messages through the analysis of the language structures and devices used in any given context, and Expression, the conveying of meaning through the selection of language structures and devices appropriate to each specific context. Performance will be reported under the profile dimensions Understanding and Expression.

1. Understanding

The ability to:

- (a) understand meaning conveyed (both in listening and in reading) through word choice and grammar, and (in reading) through punctuation and paragraphing.
- (b) obtain information accurately, as demonstrated in the ability to:
 - (i) recognise facts stated explicitly;
 - (ii) extract specific information from what is read or heard;
 - (iii) extract implied information;
 - (iv) identify stated or implied time sequence;
 - (v) draw valid conclusions and inferences from information presented;
 - (vi) recognise cause and effect relationships;
 - (vii) identify main and subordinate ideas and trace their development;
 - (viii) recognise the difference between denotative and connotative language;
 - (ix) treat with passages whose main purpose is informative (expository) as opposed to literary or argumentative; and,
 - (x) interpret and respond to tables and pictorial communication, such as diagrams, conventional signs and symbols.
- (c) grasp insights from reading literature and demonstrating the ability to:
 - (i) deduce reasons and motives for particular spoken and written communication (other than those with an overt argumentative intent);
 - (ii) appreciate the appropriateness of different uses of tone, mood, register, code and style in talks and speeches, in non-literary forms including scientific or technical writing, and in literary forms (prose, verse and drama), in relation to the author's intention;
 - (iii) detect connotations in the use of words and in the presentation of ideas and distinguish between connotative and denotative meaning;

- (iv) detect and assess the apt use of devices such as pun, innuendo, exaggeration, irony and symbolism;
 - (v) recognise and respond to the appropriateness of the means, including form and structure, used by a speaker, director or author to achieve the intended effect of a talk or speech, letter, article or essay, poem, novel, story or play;
 - (vi) visualise the situation, attitudes, mood and setting of a play and appreciate how they influence the actions and interaction of actors in the performance of that play;
 - (vii) recognise implicit themes; and,
 - (viii) respond to West Indian and other literature in English (novels, short stories, poems and plays): recognise elements of the writer's craft; respond to writers' evocation of feelings, moods, atmosphere; making critical appraisal of values and concepts expressed in literature, and relate these to everyday living.
- (d) recognise and evaluate opinion expressed in various forms as demonstrated in the ability to:
- (i) distinguish factual statements from unsupported opinion statements;
 - (ii) detect bias or particular perspective in the use of words and in the presentation of ideas;
 - (iii) evaluate the effectiveness of language devices used to persuade; and,
 - (iv) recognise the range of techniques of persuasion employed in social intercourse and in the mass media, and assess their argumentative effects.

2. Expression

The ability to:

- (a) use appropriate diction, grammatical forms (both in speaking and in writing) and suitable punctuation and paragraphing to convey meaning clearly and with facility;
- (b) communicate factual information clearly, concisely and adequately in giving oral and written instructions, reports, summaries, and expositions;
- (c) acquire self-knowledge through self-expression and give aesthetic satisfaction to others in personal, creative and imaginative language by:
 - (i) organising and sequencing ideas to communicate emotional and imaginative interpretations of experience; and,
 - (ii) using language (tone, mood, register, code and style) appropriate to particular situations and contexts.
- (d) communicate personal opinion clearly and cogently in language which persuades or dissuades effectively. This will involve the ability to:

- (i) present reasoned evaluative comments on proposals and situations of various kinds in language that is clear and appropriate to the occasion;
- (ii) demonstrate the ability to employ, wherever necessary, a range of argumentative techniques for emotional impact;
- (iii) present a logical argument using justifiable techniques related to sound oral and written debate; and,
- (iv) research a topic or situation from different angles or perspectives in order to express an informed opinion.

◆ SUGGESTED TIMETABLE ALLOCATION

It is recommended that in order to satisfy the requirements of the English A and English B examinations, a minimum of six sessions should be allocated to English A and four to English B per week. However, it is recognised that students and teachers operate in a wide variety of situations and under an equally wide variety of conditions. It is important that individual institutions develop an allocation of time, taking the following into consideration:

1. language competence levels of students at point of entry into the examination class;
2. availability of human and other resources;
3. learning styles of students;
4. school culture;
5. normal timetable concerns; and,
6. balance among skills needed in English A and English B.

◆ RECOMMENDED APPROACHES TO FACILITATE LANGUAGE LEARNING

This syllabus is based on the philosophy that the acquisition and mastery of language is a progressive process. Teaching and learning methodologies should facilitate opportunities for students to gradually build on their experiences, knowledge and skills.

A number of language varieties, which differ significantly from the Caribbean Standard English (CSE), exist in the Caribbean region. A non-threatening setting is therefore critical to student experimentation with the language and the development of the required competencies. For this reason peer and small group activities are recommended so that students will feel confident enough to manipulate the language. Excessive correction of errors should be avoided, since this may contribute to low self-esteem and refusal to make attempts to develop CSE competencies. Teachers should also keep in mind that in teaching CSE grammar to speakers of creoles, it is important to raise students' consciousness or awareness of the similarities and differences between the forms.

Teachers will find it useful to employ the integrated approach in the teaching of this syllabus. The different modes of language- listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing and the sixth element – reflection – are essentially linked and should be addressed through methodologies which reflect and promote their interconnectivity.

The exploration of literature is essential to the achievement of the aims of this syllabus. Literature should continue to serve the traditional roles of facilitating literary appreciation and promoting positive values and attitudes. However, literature should also serve as the general context through which meaningful language learning takes place. It should be used to model the apt use of a range of learning skills in the different genres. It should serve as the springboard for reflection and problem-solving. It is recommended that as far as possible elements of literature be fully and seamlessly integrated into the language learning process via various prompts, as well as through the treatment of specific elements. The promotion of the reading of good literature will also improve students' language skills.

Teachers should also promote the use of metacognitive strategies on the part of students. Thinking aloud as they work through a task or explaining the process involved in arriving at a plausible response should be modelled by the teacher and practised by the students. As students become more aware of the processes which undergird language learning, they will begin to display more confidence and competence in the use of the language.

Interpersonal development should be promoted at all levels of the language learning process. As students build their language competence through interaction with peers, they should also be encouraged to develop the attendant social skills.

The transactional functions of language form an important aspect of this syllabus. Students must therefore be made to recognise the utility of language in practical functions. Teachers should seek also to help their students develop a genuine love and appreciation for language as they use it to reflect and provide pleasure for themselves and others.

CLASSROOM RESOURCES

The choice of material to be used in the classroom will be guided by both the language needs of daily living and the need of the students to develop the skills and insights necessary if they are to derive satisfaction from novels, stories, poems and plays. The approach in this syllabus calls for emphasis on the exposure of students to literature, not to the learning of facts about literary theory.

A reading list is included in the syllabus to offer help to schools in choosing class texts to develop the ability to enjoy literature. It is a list of suggested reading, not prescribed reading. It offers a guide to the range of material that is suitable for particular groups of students. Schools are encouraged to create situations which lead to wide reading by students.

There will, of course, be differences from territory to territory and even from school to school, so the recommendations must not be taken as binding in any way. It is hoped that students will be encouraged to read widely within the range of titles suggested both by the list and by the teacher's own additions to it, and that class sessions and written assignments will be geared to stimulate and reward this extra reading of, and interest in literature.

The reading list includes a number of reference texts on the teaching of drama. The approach to drama implicit in the syllabus places the emphasis on the use of activities such as miming, improvisations, the reading and acting of plays in the classroom that would help in the development of self-awareness and understanding of others. The texts included in the suggested reading list will provide guidance in implementing this aspect of the drama programme, particularly in the first three years of secondary schooling.

Refer to pages 57-80 for Suggested Reading List.

◆ ENGLISH A AND B: NOTES AND SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES (FORMS 1 – 5)

Communicative competence is a critical issue in any classroom and is the focus of the aims outlined earlier in this syllabus. Students will be expected to demonstrate good control of the mechanisms of language, write good, clear prose, and to communicate easily, precisely and fluently. It is a sound instructional principle to practise the skills required to achieve these features within situations that simulate the social contexts as nearly as possible. The importance of the oral aspects of English should be emphasised.

Suggested teaching activities are intended to guide teachers for both English A and English B into a full understanding of the objectives of the syllabus, while offering ideas for both teaching and assessment activities. This list of activities is not prescribed, nor is it exhaustive.

NOTE: It is recommended that teachers in all subjects ensure that the English Language competence of their students is satisfactory. With this in mind, it is suggested that teachers of English should provide guidance to teachers of other subjects with respect to the quality of English expected to be displayed, and that five per cent of the marks for any assignment should be allocated to the quality of the language used in presenting the assignment, oral or written.

Understanding (b) – Informative Discourse
Students should be able to extract information accurately. This involves the ability to:
1. recognise facts stated explicitly;	As the first level of questioning, this requires a basic understanding of information presented directly in language to be taken literally.	Use of various subject textbooks, manuals, newspaper reports, notices, recipes, tables, charts, signs, maps, diagrams, audio and visual media, blogs. Use of Internet articles on same/similar topics – analysis of views, and separation of facts from opinion.	Multiple choice, short-answer, oral questions relating to explicit information (read, heard or shown in a diagram). Who, what, where, when, why, how questions. Following directions.
2. extract specific information from what is read or heard;	Selection of relevant information, making use of titles, introductions, topic sentences, illustrations, main ideas .	Note-taking; making outlines, summaries, paraphrases; giving titles; formulating questions to elicit data.	Written and oral summaries, reports. Reporting data as diagrams, charts. Selecting the outline from an article.
3. extract implied information;	Reading ‘between the lines’ (a critical skill) is used in interpreting information presented indirectly.	Making inferences from suitable passages, poems; deducing meaning of cartoons, and trends in charts, maps , advertisement, other oral, social media presentations. Listening/watching visual media: (a) make predictions based on speech, music, atmosphere, body language and on other behaviours;	Multiple choice, short-answer, or oral questions re implied information (read, heard, or seen in graphic).

Assessing identity of a character and explaining motivation.

Expression (c) – Literary Discourse

Students should derive aesthetic satisfaction from creative writing by:

1. organising and sequencing ideas to communicate emotions and imaginative interpretations of experience;

Exploring various forms of self-statement, spoken and written. Demonstrating control over the structure of an order of presentation especially when communicating emotional and imaginative slants to experiences.

Writing and reading stories, verse, dramatic scenes, possibly after discussion of personal experience, a topical event, or some other stimulus.

Submitting outline, drafts and a fair copy of an imaginative piece, for assessment of both final product and process of writing;

Express feelings about experiences and observations. Recount poignant experiences.

Practising independent revision of imaginative writing done under test conditions.
Produce a personal expressive essay.

2. recognising the various literary devices and their contribution to meaning and demonstrate an ability to interpret, at various levels different creative works; and,

Metaphors, simile, proverbs and other idiomatic expressions across genres.

Discussion of meaning in works which use the devices well;

Assessment of such devices and their contribution to meaning. (See Understanding c Item 4).

Identify the devices as used in various works;

Creating short stories/poems which use and respond to such devices.

Reading aloud to demonstrate understanding of the work which use the devices.

Understanding (d) Argumentative Discourse

Students should be able to recognise and evaluate opinion(s) expressed in various forms. This involves the ability to:

1. distinguish factual statements from opinion expressed in various forms;	If assertions are capable of being verified (factual, even if shown to be false), the appeal is to reason and the audience can use its judgment; if opinions are given without grounds which can be verified then they are unreliable.	Identifying and analysing statements of different kinds of prepared passages, and in advertisements, letters to the editor, reviews, sports reports; removing all but logical arguments from prepared argumentative passages, listening to and viewing tapes of speeches.	Identifying verifiable and unverifiable statements in a passage. Judging the soundness of selected verifiable assertions. Identifying the more reasonable (logically presented) of two argumentative passages.
		Reading court reports and reports on trials.
		Studying short proposals, paying attention to structure and reasoning.
2. detect connotations in the use of words and in the presentation of ideas;	Bias and/or particular perspective may be detected in the choice of words and evidence in the presentation of ideas.	Discussion of the effect of loaded expressions in advertisements and other argumentative material. Expression (d) – Argumentative Discourse (cont'd)

Students should be able to communicate personal opinion clearly and cogently in language which persuades or dissuades effectively, namely:

4. critically analyse issues that have come to public attention.

Critical issues that affect our lives emerge from time to time. It is necessary to understand them, discuss them and take informed positions.

Read newspapers, listen to discussions, note expert views, discuss them, discuss some forms of public behaviour. Differentiate between gossip/propaganda and information.

State ideas about community and nation.

◆ THE ENGLISH A EXAMINATION

◆ CERTIFICATION

The syllabus is offered for General Proficiency certification. A candidate's performance will be indicated on the certificate by an overall numerical grade on a six-point scale as well as a letter grade for each of two profile dimensions, namely, Understanding and Expression.

◆ DEFINITION OF PROFILE DIMENSIONS

The knowledge and skills students are expected to develop on completion of this syllabus have been grouped under two profile dimensions:

1. Understanding.
2. Expression.

1. Understanding

The ability to:

- (a) understand meaning conveyed in reading, through word choice, grammar, punctuation and paragraphing, and to obtain information accurately;
- (b) grasp insights from reading literature; and;
- (c) evaluate opinions expressed in various forms.

2. Expression

The ability to:

- (a) communicate factual information clearly, concisely, and adequately in giving written instructions, reports, summaries, and expositions in appropriate language;
- (b) give aesthetic satisfaction to others in personal, creative and imaginative language; and,
- (c) communicate personal opinion clearly and cogently in language which persuades or dissuades effectively.

◆ FORMAT OF THE EXAMINATIONS: ENGLISH A

The English A examination is offered at the General Proficiency level. The Assessment comprises three papers, Paper 01, Paper 02, and Paper 031 or Paper 032.

Papers 01 and 02 are assessed externally. Paper 031 is the School-Based Assessment (SBA) and is assessed internally by the teacher and moderated by CXC®. Paper 032 is an Alternative to the SBA and is intended for candidates registered as private candidates. Paper 032 is externally assessed.

Paper 01 (1 hour 30 minutes – 29 per cent of Total Assessment)

1. Composition of Paper

This paper consists of 60 compulsory multiple-choice items arranged in two sections. Section One consists of 25 discrete items and Section Two consists of 35 reading comprehension items based on five stimuli as follows: one poem; one literary extract (for example, novel, short story, biography, diary, letter); one expository extract (for example, encyclopaedia extract, report, instructions, newspaper article, texts of speeches, transcript of conversations); one argumentative extract (for example, an advertisement, a speech or a letter to the editor); one visual extract (for example, table, chart, form, diagram, map, cartoon, advertisement).

2. Mark Allocation

- (a) One mark will be assigned for each question.
- (b) The total number of marks available for this paper is 60.
- (c) This paper contributes 29 per cent towards the final assessment.

3. Award of Marks

Marks will be awarded under Profile Dimension 1 as follows:

In Section One, marks will be awarded for the ability to understand meaning conveyed through word choice, grammar, syntax, sentence structure, punctuation and paragraphing.

In Section Two, marks will be awarded for the ability to:

- (a) obtain information accurately;
- (b) grasp insights from reading literature; and,
- (c) recognise and evaluate opinions expressed in various forms.

Paper 02 (2 hours and 40 minutes – 50 per cent of Total Assessment)

1. Composition of Paper

This paper is divided into the following four sections:

Section A consists of ONE compulsory question – informative discourse (summary).

Section B consists of ONE compulsory question – informative discourse (exposition). This question will require candidates to respond to given stimulus material. The response may take the form of an email, letter, report, notice, or article. The question will change from year to year, but will focus on the skills of communicating factual information concisely.

Section C consists of two optional questions. These questions require candidates to produce a short story.

Section D consists of ONE compulsory argumentative essay question. The format for the response may vary from year to year (for example, a speech, letter to Editor, essay).

2. Mark Allocation

- (a) Section A is worth 25 marks.
- (b) Section B is worth 30 marks.
- (c) Section C is worth 25 marks.
- (d) Section D is worth 25 marks.
- (e) This paper is worth 105 marks, and contributes 50 per cent towards the final assessment.

3. Award of Marks

Marks will be awarded under Profile Dimension 1, as follows:

In Section A, marks will be awarded for the ability to:

- (a) use appropriate grammatical forms, and suitable punctuation and paragraphing to convey meaning clearly and with facility; and,
- (b) communicate factual information clearly, concisely, and adequately in written instructions, reports and summaries in appropriate language.

In Section B, marks will be awarded for the candidate's ability to:

- (a) communicate factual information clearly, concisely, and adequately in written instructions, reports and summaries in appropriate language; and,
- (b) obtain information accurately.

Marks will be awarded under Profile Dimension 2, as follows:

In Sections A and B, marks will be awarded for the ability to:

- (a) use appropriate grammatical forms, and suitable punctuation and paragraphing to convey meaning clearly and with facility; and,
- (b) use appropriate language and communicate factual information clearly, concisely and adequately in writing letters, reports and summaries.

In Section C, marks will be awarded for the ability to give aesthetic satisfaction to others in personal, creative and imaginative language.

In Section D, marks will be awarded for the ability to communicate personal opinion clearly and cogently in language which effectively persuades or dissuades.

SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT (SBA)

Paper 031, School-Based Assessment – (SBA – 21 per cent of Total Assessment)

A single SBA will be required to complete both aspects of the English Syllabus: English A and English B. A student who does English A only OR English B only OR English A and B will be required to submit ONLY one SBA. The SBA will be credited for both English A and B. The SBA is expected to be done by each student working as an individual, and as a member of a small group approved by the teacher where:

1. individual refers to each student, who has responsibility for his/her own portfolio; and,
2. group refers to 4 – 5 students sharing a general topic, who work together to discuss and solve problems, explain ideas, learn from peers, improve oral skills, and practise social skills and leadership roles.

The marks assigned to a student will consist of:

1. his/her individual mark (Plan of Investigation, Oral Presentation, Reflection, Participation Measure); and,
2. the mark assigned to the group (Quality of Group Behaviour, Written Report).

PORTFOLIO

Each student will create a Portfolio on an issue/topic/theme/event selected by the students in the group and approved by the teacher. The issue/topic/theme/event will also be orally presented. The issue/topic/theme/event selected should allow for meaningful research and presentation.

The Portfolio should include the following:

1. PLAN OF INVESTIGATION – an introduction to the issue/topic/theme/event (A satisfactory response should be no more than 100 words).
 - (a) Why did you choose this issue/topic/theme/event?
 - (b) What are the expected benefits to you as a student of English?
 - (c) How do you intend to collect relevant information on your issue/topic/theme/event and use this in your presentation?
2. PARTICIPATION MEASURE – A measure of the candidate’s individual participation assessed by self and teacher.
3. INDICATORS OF GROUP ACTIVITY – A minimum of THREE pieces of material, for example, print, audio, visual media must be collected and presented in the Portfolio and should address the issue/topic/theme/event selected. One of the three pieces must be print. These pieces will form the basis for the process of enquiry and group work activities (cognitive, psychomotor, affective) in which students will become aware of and practise English language skills.

4. REFLECTION – THREE entries in which the student reflects on the issue/topic/ theme/ event selected should be completed. In the first entry the student must indicate how each piece of material helped to shape his or her thinking about the issue/topic/ theme/event. The second entry should discuss the use of language in the material selected and the third entry should state how the process of doing the SBA helped the student to become a better person. The reflection should be written in class under the teacher's supervision.
5. WRITTEN REPORT – A written report of the investigation should be a summary of the processes, procedures and outcomes of the research. It should include the material collected, reasons for selection and analysis of the material. A satisfactory report should be about 250-300 words in total.
6. ORAL PRESENTATION – A personal response related to issue/topic/ theme/ event should be delivered orally in 3 to 5 minutes. The oral presentation should be delivered predominately in standard English and in a genre of the student's choosing, for example, drama, poetry, prose, role play, speech, argument, exposition. The student should deliver a brief overview of the presentation including the genre chosen, the sources used and a comment on the kind of language used. A brief plan of the Oral Presentation must be submitted in the Portfolio.

Additional guidelines for the School-Based Assessment are provided on pages 45–56.

MODERATION OF SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

School-Based Assessment Record Sheets are available on the CXC®'s website (www.cxc.org).

All School-Based Assessment Record of marks must be submitted online using the SBA data capture module of the Online Registration System (ORS). A sample of assignments will be requested by CXC® for moderation purposes. This sample must be electronically submitted. Each candidate's assignment in the sample should be a single word processing document (preferably PDF) with all the supporting images embedded.

These assignments will be re-assessed by CXC® Examiners who moderate the School-Based Assessment. Teachers' marks may be adjusted as a result of moderation. The Examiners' comments will be sent to schools.

Copies of the students' assignment that are not submitted must be retained by the school until three months after publication by CXC® of the examination results.

Paper 032, Alternative to School-Based Assessment (SBA) (2 hours – 21 per cent of Total Assessment)

Private candidates are required to write Paper 032, an Alternative Paper to the SBA. The Alternative Paper will assess the candidate's acquisition of skills in the same areas of the syllabus identified for the SBA.

This paper will consist of a guided critique of three pieces of stimulus material:

1. An excerpt from a recent newspaper article on a topical issue;

2. A cartoon strip or lyrics to a song on the same topical issue; and,
3. A poem, short story, public speech (extract) on the same issue.

Candidates will answer three compulsory questions. Two questions will require short answer responses and one question will require the creation of an imaginative piece in response to the theme selected. Marks will be awarded for content, organization, effective use of language, voice or style, and word choice.

1. Candidates will be required to respond to questions on:
 - (a) issues raised in the stimulus;
 - (b) possible impact on the intended audience; and,
 - (c) language techniques used.
2. Candidates will be required to respond to questions about an oral presentation. Candidates must research and be aware of the characteristic features of an oral presentation.
3. Candidates will select ONE of the issues/situations raised in the stimulus and create a personal response to it. The response can take the form of drama, poetry, prose, lyrics to a song (a satisfactory response for Drama or Prose pieces should be no more than 2 pages in length).

Tables 1 and 2 present a summary of the assessment scheme for the English A Syllabus.

◆ REGULATIONS FOR PRIVATE CANDIDATES

Private candidates will be required to write Paper 01, Paper 02 and Paper 032, the Alternative to the SBA. A private candidate must enter through a school, a recognised educational institution or the Local Registrar's Office.

◆ REGULATIONS FOR RESIT CANDIDATES

For CSEC® candidates, SBA scores can be carried forward only ONCE and only during the year immediately following the first sitting. In order to assist candidates in making decisions about whether or not to reuse a moderated SBA score, the Council will continue to indicate on the preliminary results if a candidate's moderated SBA score is less than 50% in a particular subject. Candidates re-using SBA scores should register as "Re-sit candidates" and must provide the previous candidate number when registering. These candidates must rewrite Papers 01 and 02 of the examination for the year in which they re-register.

Resit candidates may enter through schools, recognised educational institutions or the Local Registrar's Office.

◆ THE ENGLISH B EXAMINATION

INTRODUCTION

In English B, teachers guide students to explore how writers, poets and dramatists craft their work to influence our feelings and thoughts about life. Literature is a storehouse of humankind's collective imagination and ideas. As teachers guide students to explore the rich world of literature they are confronted with many facets of the human experience as presented by literary artists. Historical, current or future events may stimulate them to peer into the mirror of shared psychological and social realities. This exposure supports students forging national and personal identities and creates a heightened sense of appreciation for the commonalities and differences in our human experience.

The exploration of literature is intended to foster students' awareness on how writers create their literary worlds; to encourage students to make critical evaluations of those attitudes, values and beliefs that are portrayed, and to develop in students a sense of empathy as they see their own humanity reflected in literary characters and situations.

EXAMINATION

The English B examination is intended to provide a test of the skills outlined below and those general skills listed on pages 3–4 of the syllabus under Understanding (c). Together with the English A examinations, this will provide a complete test of the full range of skills which the integrated syllabus is designed to develop.

It is designed to be a test of candidates' acquisition of those skills that would enable them to understand how literature functions and to pursue the study of literature at an advanced level.

The examination is designed to test a range of skills which include the ability to:

1. respond to West Indian and other literatures in English: novels, short stories, poems and plays; to make rational and sensitive appraisal of value judgements, states of consciousness and other concepts explored in literature, and to relate these to everyday living;
2. describe (the outlining of relevant content), analyse (break down, select and comment on the significance of relevant details) and synthesise (bring together and condense in a new form) information drawn from various sections of a text for the purpose of answering a particular question);
3. communicate informed opinions and judgments in well-structured, analytical responses in oral and written form using the vocabulary of literary criticism;
4. produce balanced critical analyses;
5. recognise the writer's craft (the writer as a person who employs various techniques in the shaping of language and the presentation of character and behaviour);
6. recognise and distinguish between moral assumptions contained in a particular text; and,
7. grasp concepts and values and an understanding of how these are manifested in literature.

◆ CERTIFICATION

The syllabus is offered for General Proficiency certification. A candidate's performance will be indicated on the certificate by an overall numerical grade on a six-point scale as well as a letter grade for each of three profile dimensions: Drama, Poetry and Prose Fiction.

◆ DEFINITION OF PROFILE DIMENSIONS

The knowledge and skills students are expected to develop on completion of this syllabus have been grouped under three profile dimensions:

1. Drama.
2. Poetry.
3. Prose Fiction.

1. Drama

This profile dimension will emphasise the study, teaching, and understanding of drama as a discrete literary genre. Although it shares literary elements with the other literary genres, it possesses elements that are unique to drama, for example:

- (a) performance as its main vehicle;
- (b) stage directions;
- (c) character;
- (d) spectacle; and,
- (e) the development of character, theme, and atmosphere through elements such as lighting, costuming, stage props.

Such dramatic elements ought to be the primary focus of teaching and study.

2. Poetry

This profile dimension will emphasise the study, teaching, and understanding of poetry as a discrete literary genre. Although it shares literary elements with the two other literary genres, there are elements specific to poetry, such as:

- (a) fixed forms, metre, rhythm and rhyme;
- (b) the economy of language;
- (c) the organic relationship between sound and sense; and,
- (d) the figurative language employed to give the poem levels of meaning.

Such elements ought to be the primary focus of the teaching and study of poetry.

3. Prose Fiction

Prose Fiction is more often than not the most expansive and experimental of the literary genres and it is for many the most accessible. Following are some of the elements of prose fiction that must be studied, taught, and understood:

- (a) narrative technique and the use of first-person and third-person narrators;
- (b) structure, that is, the way in which a work of prose fiction is put together, for example, whether it is an unbroken narrative, or a narrative divided into chapters, or into larger sections or more than one narrative put together to form a longer narrative;
- (c) the difference between narration and description;
- (d) the presentation of humankind in a social setting;
- (e) characterisation; and,
- (f) themes.

Such elements ought to be the primary focus of the teaching and study of the novel and the short story.

In each of the three literary genres the following skills will be tested:

1. Understanding

- (a) Knowledge of Text and Insight:
 - (i) Relevance and adequacy of content; and,
 - (ii) Relevance and accuracy of examples.

2. Expression

- (a) Organisation of Response:
 - (i) Structure and development of responses; and,
 - (ii) Clear and logical argument.
- (b) Quality of Language:
 - (i) Clarity and appropriateness of expression used; and,
 - (ii) Mechanics of writing (sentence structure, grammar, punctuation, and spelling).

◆ FORMAT OF THE EXAMINATIONS: ENGLISH B

The English B examination is offered at the General Proficiency level. The Assessment comprises three papers, Paper 01, Paper 02, and Paper 031 or Paper 032.

Papers 01 and 02 are assessed externally. Paper 031 is the School-Based Assessment (SBA) and is assessed internally by the teacher and moderated by CXC. Paper 032 is an alternative to the SBA and is intended for candidates registered as private candidates. Paper 032 is externally assessed.

Paper 01 (2 hours – 29 per cent of Total Assessment)

1. Composition of Paper

This paper will consist of 60 multiple-choice items. All questions are compulsory. Each genre will have two stimuli: one piece of Caribbean literature and one other. Ten questions will be set on each stimulus, hence a total of 20 questions for each genre – drama, poetry and prose fiction.

2. Mark Allocation

- (a) One mark will be allocated for each question in this paper.
- (b) The total number of marks available for this paper is 60.
- (c) This paper contributes 29 per cent towards the final examination.

3. Award of Marks

Marks will be awarded in each profile dimension.

Paper 02 (2 hours 10 minutes – 50 per cent of Total Assessment)

1. Composition of Paper

This paper is divided into three sections:

- (a) Section A – Drama (Shakespeare and Modern Drama). This section consists of TWO Type A questions (See page 37), ONE on each text. Thirty-five marks are allocated for each question. Candidates must answer one question from this section.
- (b) Section B – Poetry (a selection of 20 poems). This section consists of two Type B questions (See page 37), one generic question allowing candidates to use two appropriate choices from the prescribed poems and one question based on two named poems from the prescribed list. Thirty-five marks are allocated for each question. Candidates must answer one question from this section.

- (c) Section C – Prose Fiction (EITHER West Indian novel OR other novels in English OR West Indian short story and other short stories in English). This section consists of FOUR questions: TWO Type A questions (See page 37), ONE on each prescribed novel and two Type B questions (See page 37), one generic question allowing candidates to use two appropriate choices from the prescribed short stories and one question based on two named short stories from the prescribed list. Thirty-five marks are allocated for each question. Candidates must answer one question from this section.

2. Number of Questions

This paper consists of 8 optional extended-essay questions arranged under the three sections outlined above. There are two types of questions in this paper:

- (a) Type A – Questions that require knowledge and study of one text; and,
- (b) Type B – Questions of comparison that require knowledge and study of 20 poems and 10 short stories.

Candidates will be required to use 2 poems and/or 2 short stories to respond to the questions in the respective sections.

3. Mark Allocation

Each question is worth 35 marks. This paper is worth 105 marks.

4. Award of Marks

Candidates are expected to show knowledge, insight and clear and logical argument, and organisation of response.

Marks will be awarded for relevance and accuracy of content, relevance and accuracy of illustration and clear and logical argument. Marks will also be awarded for the structure and development of relevant ideas or points into coherent paragraphs, and for competence in the mechanics of writing.

SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT (SBA)

Paper 031, School-Based Assessment (SBA – 21 per cent of Total Assessment)

A single SBA will be required to complete both aspects of the English Syllabus: English A and English B. A student who does English A only OR English B only OR English A and B will be required to present ONLY one SBA. The SBA will be credited for both English A and B. The SBA is expected to be done by each student working as an individual and as a member of a small group approved by the teacher where:

1. individual refers to each student, who has responsibility for his/her own portfolio; and,
2. group refers to 4 – 5 students sharing a general topic, who work together to discuss and solve problems, explain ideas, learn from peers, improve oral skills, and practise social skills and leadership roles.

The marks assigned to a student will consist of:

1. his/her individual mark (Plan of Investigation, Oral Presentation, Reflection, Participation Measure); and,
2. the mark assigned to the group (Quality of Group Behaviour, Written Report).

PORTFOLIO

Each student will create a Portfolio on an issue/topic/theme/event selected by the students in the group and approved by the teacher. The issue/topic/theme/event will also be orally presented. The issue/topic/theme/event selected should allow for meaningful research and presentation.

The Portfolio should include the following:

1. PLAN OF INVESTIGATION – an introduction to the issue/topic/theme/event (A satisfactory response should be no more than 100 words).
 - (a) Why did you choose this issue/topic/theme/event?
 - (b) What are the expected benefits to you as a student of English?
 - (c) How do you intend to collect relevant information on your issue/topic/theme/event and use this in your presentation?

2. PARTICIPATION MEASURE – A measure of the candidate’s individual participation assessed by self and teacher.
3. INDICATORS OF GROUP ACTIVITY – A minimum of THREE pieces of material, for example, print, audio, visual media must be collected and presented in the Portfolio and should address the issue/topic/theme/event selected. One of the three pieces must be print. These pieces will form the basis for the process of enquiry and group work activities (cognitive, psychomotor, affective) in which students will become aware of and practise English language skills.
4. REFLECTION – THREE entries in which the student reflects on the issue/topic/ theme/event selected should be completed. In the first entry the student must indicate how each piece of data helped shape his or her thinking about the issue/topic/ theme/event. The second entry should discuss the use of language in the material selected and the third entry should state how the process of doing the SBA helped the student to become a better person. The reflection should be written in class under the teacher’s supervision.
5. WRITTEN REPORT – A written report of the investigation should be a summary of the processes, procedures and outcomes of the research. It should include the material collected, reasons for selection and analysis of the material. A satisfactory report should be about 250-300 words in total.
6. ORAL PRESENTATION – A personal response related to issue/topic/ theme/ event should be delivered orally in 3 to 5 minutes. The oral presentation should be delivered predominately in standard English and in a genre of the student’s choosing, for example, drama, poetry, prose, role play, speech, argument, exposition. The student should deliver a brief overview of the presentation including the genre chosen, the sources used and a comment on the kind of language used in the data. A brief plan of the Oral Presentation must be submitted in the Portfolio.

Additional guidelines for the School-Based Assessment are provided on pages 45-64.

MODERATION OF SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

School-Based Assessment Record Sheets are available on the CXC®’s website (www.cxc.org).

All School-Based Assessment Record of marks must be submitted online using the SBA data capture module of the Online Registration System (ORS). A sample of assignments will be requested by CXC® for moderation purposes. This sample must be electronically submitted. Each candidate’s assignment in the sample should be a single word processing document (preferably PDF) with all the supporting images embedded.

These assignments will be re-assessed by CXC® Examiners who moderate the School-Based Assessment. Teachers’ marks may be adjusted as a result of moderation. The Examiners’ comments will be sent to schools.

Copies of the students’ assignment that are not submitted must be retained by the school until three months after publication by CXC® of the examination results.

Paper 032, Alternative to School-Based Assessment (SBA) – (2 hours–21 per cent of Total Assessment)

Private candidates are required to write Paper 032, an Alternative Paper to the SBA. The Alternative Paper will assess the candidate's acquisition of skills in the same areas of the syllabus identified for the SBA.

This paper will consist of a guided critique of three pieces of stimulus material:

1. An excerpt from a recent newspaper article on a topical issue;
2. A cartoon strip or lyrics to a song on the same topical issue; and,
3. A poem, short story, public speech (extract) on the same issue.

Candidates will answer three compulsory questions. Two questions will require short answer responses and one question will require the creation of an imaginative piece in response to the theme selected. Marks will be awarded for content, organization, effective use of language, voice or style; and word choice.

1. Candidates will be required to respond to questions on:
 - (a) issues raised in the stimulus;
 - (b) possible impact on the intended audience; and,
 - (c) language techniques used.
2. Candidates will be required to respond to questions about oral presentations. Candidates must research and be aware of the characteristic features of oral presentations.
3. Candidates will select ONE of the issues/situations raised in the stimulus and create a personal response to it. The response can take the form of drama, poetry, prose, lyrics to a song (a satisfactory response should be no more than 2 pages in length).

Tables 1 and 2 present a summary of the assessment scheme for the English B Syllabus.

◆ REGULATIONS FOR PRIVATE CANDIDATES

Private candidates will be required to write Paper 01, Paper 02 and Paper 032, the Alternative to the SBA. A private candidate must enter through a school, a recognised educational institution or the Local Registrar’s Office.

◆ REGULATIONS FOR RESIT CANDIDATES

For CSEC® candidates, SBA scores can be carried forward only ONCE and only during the year immediately following the first sitting. In order to assist candidates in making decisions about whether or not to reuse a moderated SBA score, the Council will continue to indicate on the preliminary results if a candidate’s moderated SBA score is less than 50% in a particular subject. Candidates reusing SBA scores should register as “Resit candidates” and must provide the previous candidate number when registering. These candidates must rewrite Papers 01 and 02 of the examination for the year in which they reregister.

Resit candidates may enter through schools, recognised educational institutions or the Local Registrar’s Office.

◆ SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

School-Based Assessment is an integral part of student assessment in the course covered by this syllabus. It is intended to assist students in acquiring certain knowledge, skills and attitudes that are associated with the subject. The activities for the School-Based Assessment are linked to the syllabus and should form part of the learning activities to enable the student to achieve the objectives of the syllabus. Students are encouraged to work in groups.

During the course of study for the subject, students obtain marks for the competence they develop and demonstrate in undertaking their School-Based Assessment assignments. These marks contribute to the final marks and grades that are awarded to students for their performance in the examination.

The guidelines provided in this syllabus for selecting appropriate tasks are intended to assist teachers and students in selecting assignments that are valid for the purpose of School-Based Assessment. The guidelines provided for the assessment of these assignments are intended to assist teachers in awarding marks that are reliable estimates of the achievement of students in the School-Based Assessment component of the course. In order to ensure that the scores awarded by teachers are in line with the CXC standards, the Council undertakes the moderation of a sample of the School-Based Assessment assignments marked.

School-Based Assessment provides an opportunity to individualise a part of the curriculum to meet the needs of students. It facilitates feedback to the student at various stages of the experience. This helps to build the self-confidence of students as they proceed with their studies. School-Based Assessment also facilitates the development of the critical skills and abilities that are emphasised by this CSEC subject and enhances the validity of the examination on which candidate performance is reported. School-Based Assessment, therefore, makes a significant and unique contribution to the development of relevant skills and the testing and rewarding of students for the development of those skills.

The Caribbean Examinations Council seeks to ensure that the School-Based Assessment scores are valid and reliable estimates of accomplishment. The guidelines provided in this syllabus are intended to assist in doing so.

Features of the SBA Tasks Appropriate for English A and English B

1. SBA tasks should provide opportunities and space to enable all secondary students to:
 - (a) produce language (spoken, written) for a wide variety of purposes;
 - (b) understand language (spoken, written) as used in homes, schools, the community, the market place, and the playing field; and,
 - (c) use language as a principal tool in their cognitive, metacognitive and affective development and growth.
2. SBA tasks should motivate each student to engage in searching for relevant information. That is:
 - (a) every student in the English programme should be required to search, collect and record relevant information (as is presently done in real life).

- (b) the tasks should involve distinctive activities usually undertaken in English A and English B. However, both English A and B are essentially social events. They both are primarily concerned with being lucid in oral communications; with using language and bodily expressions which are easily and readily produced or received in classrooms, in playing fields and in the community; with the cognitive, the affective and the metacognitive facets of all human behaviours; explicitly and implicitly, privately and publicly, and randomly and purposively.

Thus, each student working as a member of a small group (4 or 5) is expected to participate in a set of group activities, one of which will be assessed by the teacher.

- (c) every student is expected to engage in self-to-self transactions which may assume many tangible forms such as keeping diaries, making and keeping notebooks, writing poems to oneself, engaging in a blogfest, reflecting-restructuring-recording images of one's changing perspectives on real-life issues, monitoring and evaluating how the individual solves problems, how the individual learns how to learn and how to project useful affective states onto cognitive tasks.

3. Some of the tasks (SBA) should be done by the students under normal classroom conditions and supervised by the classroom teacher.

4. Every student has a carefully defined role in the SBA assignment:

- (a) Displaying (and thereby defining), through oral and written language, his or her communicative independence.
- (b) Analysing texts (oral and written) that have been identified, selected and recorded as expressions of creativity and imagination.
- (c) Self-monitoring the development and growth of the abilities to reflect, plan, review, evaluate and redesign.
- (d) Evaluating the impact of a learning strategy (used in English) in terms of:
- (i) the issue to be resolved and making sense of the complexities and subtleties of the texts being analysed; and,
- (ii) the cognitive and affective development of the student and deepening the student's perception of him/herself.

IMPORTANT – The teacher is responsible for ensuring that each student's work is his or her own work. Plagiarism and cheating will be penalised. A simple way to establish authenticity is to insist on check points for students to show how their work is progressing.

Teachers may also use brief oral questions to verify that candidates did indeed engage in the research activities. Some teachers may require candidates to submit preliminary drafts along with the final version, although only the final version will be assessed.

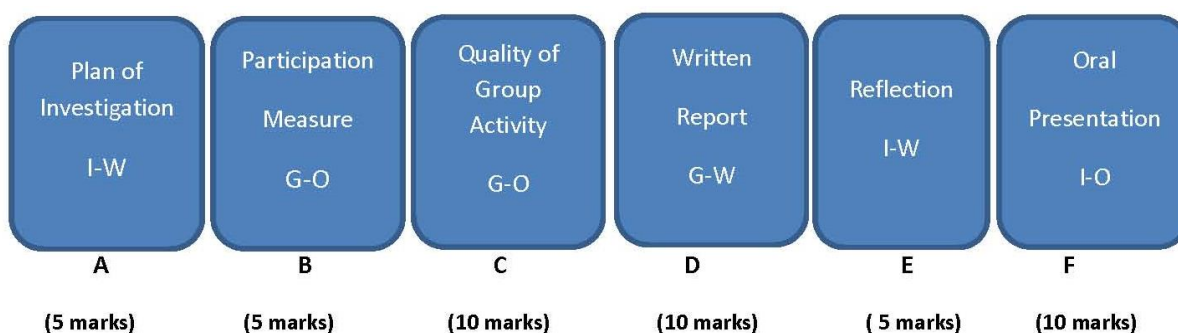

GUIDELINES TO TEACHERS FOR THE CONDUCT OF SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

The guidelines for the assessment of the School-Based Assessment (SBA) for English A are outlined on pages 29–32 and pages 38–39 for English B of the syllabus. It is required of all candidates and will be marked by the teacher in accordance with the criteria set out in the SBA mark scheme on pages 50–56 of the syllabus.

The English A and B School-Based Assessment (SBA) is to be marked out of a total of 45 which is 21 per cent of the overall grade.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The SBA portfolio is internally assessed by the teacher, and then externally moderated by a CXC-appointed examiner using assessment criteria that relate to specified objectives of English A and English B.

SPECIMEN PAPER

Paper 01 – General Proficiency

1 hour 30 minutes

READ THE FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS CAREFULLY.

1. This Specimen Paper consists of 60 items. You will have 1 hour and 30 minutes to answer them.
2. In addition to this test booklet, you should have an answer sheet.
3. Each item in this test has four suggested answers lettered (A), (B), (C), (D). Read each item you are about to answer and decide which choice is best.
4. On your answer sheet, find the number which corresponds to your item and shade the space having the same letter as the answer you have chosen. Look at the sample item below.

Sample Item

Choose the word that BEST completes each sentence.

Someone who is suffering from influenza needs to be isolated as the disease is _____.

- (A) lasting
- (B) serious
- (C) destructive
- (D) contagious

Sample Answer

The best answer to this item is “contagious,” so (D) has been shaded.

5. If you want to change your answer, erase it completely before you fill in your new choice.
6. When you are told to begin, turn the page and work as quickly and as carefully as you can. If you cannot answer an item, go on to the next one. You may return to that item later.

DO NOT TURN THIS PAGE UNTIL YOU ARE TOLD TO DO SO.

Items 26–31

Instructions: Read the following poem carefully and then answer Items 26–31 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

Leisure

What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare?
No time to stand beneath the bough
And stare as long as sheep or cows.
5 No time to see, in broad daylight,
Streams full of stars, like skies at night.
No time to turn at Beauty’s glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance.
No time to wait till her mouth can 10 Enrich that smile her eyes began.
A poor life this if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.

W.H. Davies, “Leisure”.
In Ten Twentieth-Century Poets, 1957, p.35.

 - (C) Line 9
 - (D) Line 11

Items 32–39

Instructions: Read the following passage carefully and then answer Items 32–39 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

After a decade of hard work, 2006 was the year Richie Spice joined the top tier of international reggae artists. Who can forget that summer’s soundtrack, “Brown Skin”? Its infectious lyrics and heavy rotation across the islands had boys serenading girls, and dance floors grooving until the early hours. It brought Spice invitations to perform in New York, London, Port of Spain, and elsewhere, alongside artists like Anthony B and Capleton, and won him a reputation for mesmerizing live performances. November saw the release of Spice’s latest album, In the Streets of Africa, featuring, alongside newer tracks, “Youths So Cold”, “Open the Door” and “Brown Skin”. It was the culmination of years of effort, plus immense talent, a supportive record label, and an enthusiastic international fan base.

10 Born Richell Boner in Kingston, Spice endured years of label-less grind on his own — playing stage shows, writing lyrics, and recording singles with little support — before Devon Wheatley and his label, Fifth Element, came along. “The songs were there,” Spice recalls. “They were all good songs, but they weren’t getting any promotion, and with just me going out there singing them, it was like one man against the world.” According to Spice, Fifth Element came along and 15 put their strength and promotion behind the songs, and people took to them and accepted them.

With his Fifth Element album release, 2004’s Spice in Your Life, his emotive singing and sincere message got noticed in the United States. Ignoring any urge to kick back and relax after his first taste of hype, Spice kept working hard to maintain momentum, worried that his sincerity could work against him. “When you are singing positive songs, success may take a little longer, but 20 it has to manifest,” says Spice philosophically.

After his long journey to reggae’s “higher heights”, Spice offers this advice to others setting out to make it: “Whenever you reach anywhere, there is a lot of work to be done, so just go to it and do the necessary things until you reach that space where you are supposed to be.” As 2006 has proven, he certainly knows what he is talking about.

Dylan Kerrigan, “Higher Heights”, Caribbean Beat,
November/December, 2006, p80.

32. Based on paragraph one, which adjective BEST describes the song “Brown Skin”?

- (A) Lyrical

33. Richie Spice had to work hard for years because he

- (A) recorded few singles
- (B) had to perfect his talent
- (C) hadn’t developed viable music
- (D) needed a record label to promote him

34. Richie Spice’s international success BEST shows that
- (A) it takes ten years to succeed in music
 - (B) the music industry is difficult to enter
 - (C) a record label is essential for any artist
 - (D) live performance is the basis of a music career
35. Which of the following does the passage suggest lead to an artiste’s popularity?
- I. Faith
 - II. Talent
 - III. Support
 - IV. Persistence
- (A) I and II only
 - (B) II and III only
 - (C) I, III and IV only
 - (D) II, III and IV only
36. The word “grind” (line 10) indicates that trying to achieve success without a label

 - (B) advise budding artistes about record labels
 - (C) instruct readers of the pitfalls in a music career
 - (D) highlight the particular things that made Richie Spice successful
39. The purpose of the passage is to
- (A) direct
 - (B) inform
 - (C) persuade
 - (D) entertain

Items 40–47 refer to the following passage.

Instructions: Read the following passage carefully and then answer Items 40–47 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

From time immemorial, men have hunted wild animals in forests, tilled the soil and, caught fish in the sea and rivers, all with the object of obtaining food, that basic commodity essential to existence. Agriculture is part and parcel of life, and is as old as mankind. Yet, even in the most primitive times, man always had certain tools, hunting implements, knives, spears, and flints, to help him conquer nature and support himself.

As knowledge progressed over the centuries, so man developed more and more devices to aid and adorn his life; the corn from the soil was ground into flour and baked into bread; textile and clothing were made, and buildings such as castles and churches were created. The art of printing was discovered, and this led to the production of more and more books. Metal goods were turned out at forges and workshops throughout the country; great sailing vessels were constructed and a whole host of goods, ever increasing in variety as time went by, were manufactured by men.

Industry, which is the name given to those occupations in which something is manufactured, has thus for a very long time been an important part of man's existence. Tinkers, tailors, candlestick makers, ironmongers, blacksmiths, tanners, weavers, spinners, and many others were all an essential part of life in olden days. These were the people who manufactured the goods and articles that society wanted and needed.

The manufacturing industry was very closely associated with agricultural life. Many of the spinners, weavers and others did not work in the cities or towns, but in their own cottages in the rural villages. During sowing, ploughing and harvest time all activity was concentrated on the fields, but in the long winter months, with little or nothing to be done on the land, industrial work took the place of agricultural work. Spinning wheels spun wool into yarn, and weaving looms wove yarn into cloth.

In many parts of the country, agricultural labourers in summer became industrial workers in winter.

SECTION A

(Suggested time: 40 minutes)

You MUST answer this question.

Write your answer on the RULED PAGES provided, pages 4 and 5. There may be more space than you need. There is a blank page for any notes you may want to make. THIS WILL NOT BE MARKED.

1. Read the following article on tattoos carefully and list FIVE MAIN points discussed, then write a summary of the article in NOT MORE THAN 120 words. If this limit is exceeded, only the first 120 words of your answer will be read and assessed.

As far as possible, use your own words. Your summary must be in continuous prose. You may use your answer booklet to jot down a plan.

In your answer, you will be assessed on how well you

- (a) identified the main ideas and opinions in the extract
- (b) organized and expressed these ideas and opinions in your own words
- (c) used appropriate grammar, sentence structure, vocabulary, spelling and punctuation.

Tattoos

Since the beginning of civilization, they have served as marks of identification, spiritual protection and decoration. Now at the cusp of another millennium, tattoos and other varieties of body markings are resurfacing as a popular form of individual self-expression.

Tattoos are timeless and can be as unique as the bearers they adorn. They don't fade away like favourite T-shirts, or get lost or broken like school rings. They stay with you forever, until death. They become a part of you from the day you sit in the artist's chair, etching your emotions alongside the needle's sting, transforming an instant of your life into a symbol for the world to see.

Tattoos and other body markings arrived in the Caribbean with African slaves and indentured workers from China and India. They were sometimes the only permanent keepsakes of peoples snatched from their ancestral places. The Caribbean's original Amerindian inhabitants also used tattoos to mark spiritual milestones. The Taino of the Northern Caribbean Islands, for instance, used vegetable dyes to affix images of their guardians onto their skin. These images also indicated an individual's lineage, or his or her social position. Each tattoo was both a personal history book and a mark of belonging.

Over the centuries, however, tattoos and other forms of bodily adornment have mutated, exchanging religious and cultural significance for individualist associations. Sometimes that mark of individuality has been confused with rebellion and non-conformity, often alluding to a stain of bad character. Tattoo-wearers have seemed wild, dangerous, even just plain bad.

But today, tattoos have come full circle. Celebrities, writers, lawyers, housewives, all proudly display their marks of rebellion. An entirely new perception of the art of tattooing has arisen, which is more than just a preoccupation with style. This rediscovered form of expression has spawned an entire subculture of individuals among us. They carry this common bond of distinction through their daily routines. Via the images on their forearms, shoulders, ankles, or torsos, they connect to each other, announcing to the world that it is OK to be unique and different.

POINTS

- Tattoos are permanent markings which have been around from the beginning of civilization.
- They were brought to the Caribbean from Africa, China and India, but the Amerindians wore them even before.
- They were used by people in the Caribbean for religious, ethnic and cultural purposes
- Over the years they came to be personal expressions identified with rebellion and deviance.
- Attitudes have changed towards tattoos and today they have become acceptable as marks of uniqueness and difference.

(5 marks)

SAMPLE SUMMARY

From the beginning of civilization tattoos and other body markings have been marks of identification, spiritual protection and decoration.

Tattoos are permanent markings which vary greatly and can be personally very revealing. A tattoo is an instant of your life etched forever on you for the world to see.

Tattoos and other body markings were characteristic of the Amerindians of the Caribbean as well as of the Africans, Chinese and Indians who came there. For all these people they had cultural, spiritual and ethnic significance.

Over the centuries tattoos and other body markings have changed back and forth from group significance to individual significance, presenting a daily image of difference and uniqueness.

The Manager
The Fair Trade Commission
Green Hill
Barbados

Dear Sir/Madam

I write to complain against Best Line Supermarkets from which I purchased a box of cereal on October 10, 2014. I have two areas of concern: the treatment I received, and the quality of the product.

The item was on sale and I paid $8.45 for it. On arrival home I realized that the product had expired since September. I returned the package, with the bill, and was directed to speak with the supervisor. He simply said that it was my duty to check any product I wanted to buy.

I went to the manager, explained the issue and expressed my disappointment. I also requested a refund but he too told me that I should have checked the date before making the purchase. In addition, he said that their policy is no exchange or refund on sale items. He promised to speak to his colleague, then he dismissed me and went to the telephone. I believe this treatment is unjust and would like you to intervene to rectify this matter.

Yours sincerely

Text 1 – Editorial from a Newspaper

DISCIPLINE IS AT THE CRUX OF THE ISSUE

It was triggered weeks ago when two female students wearing natural hair posted their pictures on Facebook complaining that their principal expressed disapproval of their hairstyles. In an interview with this newspaper, the principal said her only edict which she indicated clearly to students, was that they be neat and tidy in their school uniforms and that certain hairstyles were simply not appropriate for classes.

We endorse these comments by the principal, whose intention, it appears, is to set standards for the school she leads and the students in her charge. Students need to clearly understand there are rules that govern the regular operation of schools and those that speak to the deportment of those attending these institutions.

President of the National Council of Parent–Teacher Associations, put the issue into perspective when she said this was not about hair, but discipline and respect for rules.

We also agree with her on the point that schools are not just about the teaching of Mathematics and English. Schools help prepare students for life. From schools, students go on to the world of work and if they find it difficult to follow school rules, how will they fare on the job when there are regulations in place that must be obeyed?

While there are natural rights and freedoms which cannot be suppressed, children in school must conform to the standards set.

This issue came to the fore again just yesterday when this newspaper revealed that a new dress code was implemented for police officers banning them from wearing dreadlocks, make-up, extreme hair colour or having visible tattoos. Some police officers are reportedly upset by the new rules outlined in a section of the RBPF Policy on General Appearance of Police Officers dated January 15, 2015.

We do not believe the issue at hand is simply the wearing of natural hair. The larger point speaks to upholding discipline in society and the need for respect for rules and authority, whether it is in our schools or police force. Without these, we would be a lost society.

Text 2 – Song by India Arie

I am not my hair

Little girl with the press and curl
 Age eight I got a Jheri curl
 Thirteen I got a relaxer
 I was a source of so much laughter
 At fifteen when it all broke off
 Eighteen and went all natural
 February two thousand and two

I went and did
 What I had to do
 Because it was time to change my life
 To become the woman that I am inside
 Ninety-seven dreadlock all gone
 I looked in the mirror
 For the first time and saw that HEY...

I am not my hair
 I am not this skin
 I am not your expectations no no
 I am not my hair
 I am not this skin
 I am a soul that lives within

What'd she do to her hair?
 I don't know it look crazy
 I like it. I might do that.
 Umm I wouldn't go that far.
 I know.. ha ha ha ha

Good hair means curls and wave
 Bad hair means you look like a slave
 At the turn of the century
 It's time for us to redefine who we be
 You can shave it off
 Like a South African beauty

Or get in on lock
 Like Bob Marley
 You can rock it straight
 Like Oprah Winfrey
 If it's not what's on your head
 It's what's underneath and they say HEY...

Text 3 – Poem by Sunkissed GemResilience

Perfectly patterned particles
push perpetually,
emerging: emancipated, elated,
enthusiastic.
Pushing proudly
up through layers upon layers of denial.
Past denaturing chemicals
and excessive heat;
curls emerge: triumphant.
Blatant refusal
to be ignored.
Blatant defiance of standards.
Despite countless chemicals
and incessant heat curls return:
a complexly simple statement
and reminder
of identity and culture.
Our hair is as our land is
EVER BEAUTIFULLY
RESILIENT.

Question 1

(a) While the three stimulus pieces chosen deal with the topic of the wearing of natural hair it is dealt with from varying perspectives. The editor who penned the newspaper editorial used the topic to address the issue of the need to conform to standards and show respect for rules and authority if we want to maintain discipline in our society. The poet's main issue is that wearing natural hairstyles is an expression of the person you are and it cannot be denied while in the lyrics to the song the point is being made that who you are is much more important than how you choose to style your hair.

(6 marks)

(b) In the song, the issue is presented through the use of rhythm, repetition of the idea of you being more than your hair, as well as the references made to well known personalities. It is an entertaining way of dealing with a serious issue that would be appealing.

(3 marks)

(c) The writer in the article uses generalities, mentioning that students need to understand that there are rules that govern the regular operation of schools and officers are expected not to just uphold the law but to also uphold discipline. Since most people would tend to agree with these statements they are effective in persuading people to accept the argument.

In the poem, the first four lines make use of alliteration. This technique helps to add emphasis and causes the reader to pay attention to the message as it creates a pleasant rhythmic effect.

Question 2

- (a) Three features that distinguish an oral presentation from a written presentation are:
- The speaker can gauge audience reaction and adjust his message accordingly
 - It allows for audience interaction and clarification of misunderstandings
 - The voice can be used to create a desired effect and this can help to promote understanding of the message
- (b) In a presentation on the issue of persons wearing natural hairstyles as an expression of who they are, I would make these three points:
- This promotes an understanding of cultural diversity
 - The texture of the hair allows for creativity in developing distinguished hairstyles
 - It is a choice which supports a healthy approach to the treatment of your hair
- (c) The oral presentation is being made to a group made up of:
- Females
 - 14-16 years
 - Participants in a cosmetology course

The following techniques would be used to hold the attention of the group.

- Integrate relevant, supportive, attractive visual aids, props and samples to heighten the interest and stimulate the imagination of the audience to the possibilities for natural hairstyles.
- Allow for audience participation through the use of 'hands up' feedback to questions giving them an opportunity to feel connected to the issue.
- Make eye contact and display enthusiasm to help to transfer some of my energy and interest to the audience.

Items 1–10

Instructions: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 1–10.

A young lady, gloved and hatted, with a coat on, is sitting in the window-seat.

A clock strikes six. The young lady turns and looks at her watch. She rises with an air of one who waits, and is almost at the end of her patience.

- 5 With a sigh of weary resignation she sits down; and begins to read. Presently the book sinks to her lap; her eyes close; and she dozes into a slumber.

An elderly womanservant comes in from the hall and disappears in the pantry without noticing the young lady. As she returns the young lady lets her book drop, awakening herself, and startling the womanservant.

- 10 THE WOMANSERVANT: God bless us! [The young lady picks up the book and places it on the table]. Sorry to wake you, miss, I'm sure; but you are a stranger to me. What might you be waiting here for now?

THE YOUNG LADY: Waiting for somebody to show some signs of knowing that I have been invited here.

THE WOMANSERVANT: Oh, you're invited, are you? And has nobody come? Dear! Dear!

- 15 THE YOUNG LADY: A wild-looking old gentleman came and looked in at the window; and I heard him calling out, "Nurse, there is a young and attractive female waiting in the parlour. Go and see what she wants." Are you the nurse?

THE WOMANSERVANT: Yes, miss: I'm Nurse Guinness. That was old Captain Shotover, Mrs Hushabye's father. I suppose it was Mrs Hushabye that invited you, ducky?

- 20 THE YOUNG LADY: I understood her to do so. But really I think I'd better go.

NURSE GUINNESS: Oh, don't think of such a thing, miss. If Mrs Hushabye has forgotten all about it, it will be a pleasant surprise for her to see you, won't it?

THE YOUNG LADY: It has been a very unpleasant surprise to me to find that nobody expects me.

- 25 NURSE GUINNESS: You'll get used to it, miss: this house is full of surprises for them that don't know our ways.

CAPTAIN SHOTOVER [looking in from the hall suddenly: an ancient but still hardy man]. Nurse, there is a hold-all and a handbag on the front steps for everybody to fall over. Also a tennis racquet. Who the devil left them there?

THE YOUNG LADY: They are mine, I'm afraid.

- 30 THE CAPTAIN [advancing to the drawing-table]: Nurse, who is this misguided and unfortunate young lady?

NURSE GUINNESS: She says Miss Hussy invited her, sir.

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

THE CAPTAIN: And had she no friend, no parents, to warn her against my daughter's invitations? This is a pretty sort of house, by heavens! A young and attractive lady is invited here. Her luggage is left on the steps for hours; and she herself is deposited in the parlour and abandoned, tired and starving. This is our hospitality. These are our manners. No room ready. No hot water. No welcoming hostess. Our visitor is to sleep in the toolshed, and to wash in the duckpond.

NURSE GUINNESS: Now it's all right, Captain: I'll get the lady some tea; and her room shall be ready before she has finished it. [To the young lady]. Take off your hat, ducky; and make yourself at home [she goes to the door leading to the hall].

THE CAPTAIN [as she passes him]: Ducky! Do you suppose, woman, that because this young lady has been insulted and neglected, you have the right to address her as you address my wretched children, whom you have brought up in ignorance of the commonest decencies of social intercourse?

NURSE GUINNESS: Never mind him, doty. [Quite unconcerned, she goes out into the hall on her way to the kitchen].

THE CAPTAIN: Madam, will you favor me with your name? [He sits down in the big wicker chair].

Adapted from George Bernard Shaw, Heartbreak House, http://www.gutenberg.org/files/3543/3543-h/3543-h.htm.

1. The stage directions in lines 1–8 suggest that the young lady is
 - (A) angry because she is late
 - (B) tired of waiting for her friend
 - (C) frustrated by her current situation
 - (D) grateful for some time to read and sleep
2. The dramatic effect created by the reference to “A clock strikes six” (line 2) MOST likely serves to show that
 - (A) it is time for the young lady to leave
 - (B) it is close to the young lady’s dinner time
 - (C) the young lady thinks she is in an unsafe place
 - (D) the young lady has been waiting for a long time
3. Although Mrs Hushabye is offstage the audience learns about her. What impression of Mrs Hushabye is created in line 21 “If Mrs Hushabye has forgotten all about it” and line 33 “And she had no friend... invitations”?
 - (A) She appears to be absent-minded.
 - (B) She seems to be a very unfriendly person.
 - (C) She appears not to be on good terms with her father.
 - (D) She seems to be avoiding the young lady.
4. Which of the following is the BEST explanation of the dramatic significance of the luggage which was left on the step?
 - (A) It indicates that the young lady is going on a trip.
 - (B) It infers that the young lady has returned to the house.
 - (C) It is a prop which is used as a symbol of the young lady’s intention.
 - (D) It implies that the luggage was heavy so the young lady left it there.

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

5. The Captain’s statement in lines 36–37 “This is our hospitality ... duckpond” is an example of
- (A) sarcasm
 - (B) allusion
 - (C) contrast
 - (D) euphemism
6. What does the exchange between the Captain and Nurse Guinness in lines 39–44 MAINLY highlight?
- (A) The similarities in their approach to their visitor and the tension between them
 - (B) The relationship between them and the impact of their conversation on the young lady
 - (C) The contrast in the way they react to unexpected events and their attitude to the young woman
 - (D) The setting and themes in the extract and the dramatic significance of their relationship
7. Which of the following contributes MOST to suspense in the extract?
- (A) “Waiting for somebody to show some signs of knowing that I have been invited here.” (lines 12–13)
 - (B) “Oh, you’re invited, are you?”(line 14)
 - (C) “You’ll get used to it, miss ...” (line 24)
 - (D) “Nurse, who is this misguided and unfortunate young lady?” (lines 30–31)
8. Which of the following is the BEST explanation of the dramatic impact of lines 41–43?
- (A) It demonstrates that the Captain does not like strangers in his home.
 - (B) It emphasizes similarities in the way in which the Captain and the Nurse treat the young lady.
 - (C) It highlights the similarities in social class and expectations between the Captain and the Nurse.
 - (D) It suggests the Captain’s disapproval of the familiarity with which the Nurse is treating the young lady.
9. What can be inferred about the Captain’s character from the young lady’s reference to him as a “wild-looking old gentleman” (line 15) and the image of him sitting in the wicker chair at the end of the extract?
- (A) He dislikes strangers.
 - (B) He is very stern and unfriendly.
 - (C) He appears to be gruff but is a very sociable man.
 - (D) Although he is unpleasant with the Nurse, he really likes her.
10. Which of the following might be the MOST likely outcome of the dialogue between the young lady and the Captain at the end of the extract?
- (A) The young lady will leave.
 - (B) He will instruct her to go home.
 - (C) They will have a nasty exchange of words.
 - (D) They will have a pleasant but formal conversation.

Items 11–20

Instructions: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 11–20.

George gets up and goes across to the desk. He sits, picks up the phone and dials just one number.

GEORGE: Five minutes ago I asked Miss Stuart to come in, where is she? And no calls through to me till I tell you.

Lois enters George's office.

- 5 LOIS: You wanted to see me, sir?
 GEORGE: What took you so long?
 LOIS: I only just got the message.
 GEORGE: Oh. Have a look at this. [Hands her bank cards.] You handle those accounts, don't you?
- 10 LOIS: Well, yes, sir.
 GEORGE: I was hoping you could throw some light on the matter.
 LOIS: I don't know, sir.
 GEORGE: Miss Stuart, you must know. The lady who the account belongs to was in to see me this morning. She says she's been living in England for the last eight years. That last
- 15 withdrawal was made on the eighteenth of this month, two days before she left England.
 LOIS: There must be some mistake.
 GEORGE: I would say it's more than that.
 LOIS: I'll go and check the ledger.
- 20 GEORGE: Don't waste my time. [Hiss] Tell you what, let me get the police in on this. [He picks up the phone.]
 LOIS: Sir!
 GEORGE: Yes, Miss Stuart? You want the cops in on it or not? [Pause]
 LOIS: No, sir. [He hangs up after another pause.]
- 25 GEORGE: I thought I knew every trick in the book, but this is a new one on me. I take my hat off to you. When I found out what you were up to, I had a choice: call the cops, or do what anybody in my position would do – protect his staff. As luck would have it, I managed to sort it out with her. Naturally my curiosity was aroused, so I did a little digging.
- 30 LOIS: I can explain.
 GEORGE: You been playing this game for quite a little while, little bit here, little bit there.
 LOIS: Most of it has been repaid, sir. I only ...
 GEORGE: The deed is done, my dear: now we must cover your tracks. Bad luck on your part. If
- 35 the woman had remained in England you would have got away with it. Anyway, in future when you are a bit strapped for cash, check with me. I am sure we can come to some arrangement. [He touches her.]
 LOIS: Thank you, sir, but ... the money wasn't for me ...
 GEORGE: No?
 LOIS: There's this friend ...
- 40 GEORGE: Boyfriend, eh, put you up to it?
 LOIS: You don't understand, sir. He doesn't know. He's at university, and we have this arrangement; I would work and pay his way, and later ...

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

- GEORGE: You send him away on a scholarship. Good.
- 45 LOIS: But since then my father died, and me being the eldest, all the responsibility for the younger ones fell on me. You won't say anything to anyone, will you, sir? [She cries.]
- GEORGE: This is strictly between us.
- LOIS: [Crying] I'll pay it all back.
- 50 GEORGE: What you crying for? Come, come. On to brighter things, like how you planning to thank me. Tell you what, to show good faith, proof that I won't go back on my word, it'll be my pleasure to drop my signature right here on this card, then nobody can touch you, and who is going to accuse me? I am a citizen above suspicion. But later for that. [He walks away from her and sits on the sofa.] Why am I sticking my neck out for you? Two reasons. You are one of the first black girls that the bank employ. Think what it would do for your race if the news was to get out; and secondly as a
- 55 man I couldn't sit back and see an attractive girl like you go to waste in some dirty prison, just for a few dollars. No way. Such a nice body, pretty face like that. Come here.

Adapted from Trevor Rhone, Old Story Time. Pearson, 2010, pp. 64–68.

11. What is happening in lines 8–19 of the extract?
- (A) Lois has just arrived to work at the bank.
- (B) George summons Lois to his office to meet the lady from England.
- (C) George confronts Lois about an irregularity in one of the bank accounts.
- (D) Lois, an employee, is being assigned work by the bank manager, George.
12. Which of the following is the BEST explanation of the dramatic effect of the stage directions: "He picks up the phone", "Pause" (lines 21 and 23) and "He hangs up after another pause" (line 24)?
- (A) The setting in which the action is taking place is emphasized.
- (B) The audience is given some insight into George's and Lois's character.
- (C) They highlight the themes of corruption and romantic love in the extract.
- (D) They create intrigue, as the audience becomes aware of George's intentions.

13. In which of the following lines does the playwright create suspense?
- I. “Have a look at this”. (line 8)
 - II. “You want the cops in on it or not?” (line 23)
 - III. “On to brighter things, like how you planning to thank me.” (lines 48–49)
- (A) I and II only
 - (B) I and III only
 - (C) II and III only
 - (D) I, II and III
14. “I thought I knew every trick in the book, but this is a new one on me. I take my hat off to you” (lines 25–26) is an example of
- (A) contrast
 - (B) sarcasm
 - (C) imagery
 - (D) allusion
15. In lines 41–45 “You don’t understand ... will you, sir” the playwright MOST likely attempts to
- (A) establish the setting of the extract
 - (B) explore the main theme in the extract
 - (C) evoke sympathy for Lois’s predicament
 - (D) foreshadow Lois’s punishment for her actions
16. Lois’s explanation of the reasons for her actions demonstrates that she is
- (A) caring and foolhardy
 - (B) dedicated and insightful
 - (C) dishonest and ambitious
 - (D) conscientious and honest
17. The playwright reveals George’s intentions concerning Lois primarily through
- (A) diction and props
 - (B) characterization and setting
 - (C) suspense and stage directions
 - (D) offstage characters and themes
18. The statement “as a man I couldn’t sit back and see an attractive girl like you go to waste in some dirty prison, just for a few dollars” (lines 55–57) suggests that George
- (A) plans to call the police so that Lois will go to prison
 - (B) intends to blackmail Lois to have a relationship with him
 - (C) believes that beauty should prevent women from being imprisoned
 - (D) thinks that Lois’s beauty impacted on her decision to steal the money

19. Which of the following is an example of irony?
- (A) Lois is one of the first black employees at the bank and appears dishonest.
 - (B) George is not familiar with the ‘trick’ Lois has done though he is a mature man.
 - (C) Lois has been stealing the money to support her boyfriend’s education abroad.
 - (D) George considers himself a citizen above suspicion but his actions are unethical.
20. The reference to “some dirty prison” (lines 56–57) is MOST likely used to
- (A) establish the mood and tone of the extract
 - (B) explore the dramatic conflict in the extract
 - (C) ensure that Lois agrees with George’s choice of ‘punishment’
 - (D) emphasize that Lois committed a crime and punishment is expected

Instructions: Read the following poem carefully and then answer Items 21–30.

Beach

- The sea flings itself up on the sand with abandon, then turns and shimmies out drawing pebbles it scrapes from the land
- 5 like chac-chac. Silent sunbathers lie slowly rusting from bright lobster red.
With lazy flaps the grey pelicans fly
- from the groyne to dive like a streak of a bomb raiders released. But they are not the only ones grabbing what they seek.
- 10 On the seamed horizon cruise ships pass going into harbour at some other bay outside the long zoom of my spyglass.
- I see snorkelers bobbing chimneys beyond the high waves here probing the world 15 below them, floating like manatees.
- Joggers who pound past the plastic chairs turn where the hotel’s ropes mark what they’ve taken of the sea and land as theirs.
- 20 Drinkers gather at the outdoor bars set up under the wavering palm trees the sea juggling its jewels like daylight stars.
- There’s no one like me in the crowd, this fun pack. This is a Third World beach where the natives are not allowed.
- 25 But I too flap my wings like an old crow pecking at pleasures and counting the tides, waving off an archer with his armed arrow.
- I tell myself it’s too late now to remake the world as my youth had planned. I’d thought 30 I’d break the moulds, but might as well take offerings now made and surrender failed fantasies. Inland, behind these hotels’ plastic attempts at splendor,
- 35 where new empires repeat old themes, where I once raged, I hope there are still free young people there plotting their dreams.

21. In the first stanza, “flings”, “shimmies” and “scrapes” BEST describe
- (A) the movement of the waves on the shore
 - (B) an aerial view of a once popular beach
 - (C) the destructive nature of the sea at daybreak
 - (D) a still and peaceful seascape about to be disturbed by tourists
22. The image portrayed in “Silent sunbathers lie / slowly rusting from bright lobster red” (lines 4–5)
- (A) suggests sunbathers are in need of a tan
 - (B) shows, through shades of red, the effect of sunburn on the tourists
 - (C) presents the visual illustration of a fish-fry at a popular beach
 - (D) illustrates how the envious, silent natives watch the sunbathers in anger
23. Which of the following BEST explains how the poet connects stanzas 2 and 9?
- (A) They highlight birds of prey foraging the shoreline.
 - (B) They explore colour imagery through black and grey.
 - (C) They extend the bird imagery through movement and flight.
 - (D) They describe tourists, lounging and swimming and pelicans flying.
24. “Joggers who pound past the plastic chairs” (line 16) is effective primarily because it
- (A) heightens the sensory appeal, bringing together sight and sound

An Ancient Gesture

- I thought, as I wiped my eyes on the corner of my apron:
 Penelope did this too.
 And more than once: you can't keep weaving all day
 And undoing it all through the night;
- 5 Your arms get tired, and the back of your neck gets tight;
 And along towards morning, when you think it will never be light,
 And your husband has been gone, and you don't know where, for years.
 Suddenly you burst into tears;
 There is simply nothing else to do.
- 10 And I thought, as I wiped my eyes on the corner of my apron:
 This is an ancient gesture, authentic, antique,
 In the very best tradition, classic, Greek;
 Ulysses¹ did this too.
 But only as a gesture,—a gesture which implied
- 15 To the assembled throng that he was much too moved to speak.
 He learned it from Penelope ...
 Penelope, who really cried.

Edna St. Vincent Millay "An Ancient Gesture".

Retrieved from <http://www.poemhunter.com/poem/an-ancient-gesture>.

¹In Homer's epic, Odysseus (Ulysses) went to war and many thought he had died. His wife Penelope staved off suitors by telling them she would only consider marriage after she completed weaving a shroud. So, she would weave by day and unravel her handiwork at night.

31. According to the first stanza, what do the speaker and Penelope have in common?
- (A) They are crying.
 (B) They do nothing.
 (C) They are weavers.
 (D) They miss their husbands.
32. The speaker is MOST likely
- (A) a man
 (B) Ulysses
 (C) a woman
 (D) Penelope
33. In which of the following lines is repetition MOST clearly evident?
- (A) Lines 1 and 15
 (B) Lines 2 and 17
 (C) Lines 4 and 6
 (D) Line 11 and line 14

- (A) They emphasize the idea of domestication and peace.
 (B) They reinforce the idea of helplessness and loss of control.
 (C) They portray the theme of housework, servitude and resilience.
 (D) They explore the notion of power, relationships and control.
35. “Ulysses did this too” (line 13) is significant because it
- (A) signals a change in the tone
 (B) downplays the ancient gesture
 (C) reinforces the idea of imitating the gesture
 (D) draws attention to the length of the line
36. The device MOST used in this poem is
- (A) simile
 (B) free verse
 (C) comparison
 (D) biblical allusion
37. Which of the following words BEST describes the tone in the poem?
- (A) Aloof
 (B) Resentful
 (C) Semiformal
 (D) Conversational
38. In this poem, the reference to Penelope and Ulysses is significant in portraying the central idea because it
- (A) parallels the personal anguish of the speaker
 (B) gives context and meaning to a specific gesture
 (C) describes an ancient yet well-known Greek myth
 (D) explores the art of weaving and quilting for pleasure
39. The title, “An Ancient Gesture”, is effective primarily because it
- (A) personifies Penelope and Ulysses
 (B) explores relationships that are ancient
 (C) gives an unemotional response to leaving and returning
 (D) connects the past and the present through a common action
40. Which of the following are functions of the final line of the poem, “Penelope, who really cried”.
- I. Connects stanzas 1 and 2
 II. Enhances the auditory imagery
 III. Gives significance to the gesture
- (A) I and II only
 (B) I and III only
 (C) II and III only
 (D) I, II and III

Items 41–50

Instructions: Read the following passage carefully and then answer Items 41–50.

My Madonna¹ cried. A miniature teardrop travelled down her white porcelain face, like dew on the tip of early morning grass. When I saw the tear I thought, surely that my mother had died.

I sat motionless observing the Madonna the whole day. It did not shed another tear. I remained in the rocking chair until it was nightfall, my bones aching from the thought of another trip to the prison in Port-
 5 au-Prince. But, of course, I had to go.

The sun was just rising when I got to the capital. The first city person I saw was an old woman carrying a jar full of leeches. Her gaze was glued to the Madonna tucked under my arm.

“May I see it?” she asked.

I held out the small statue that had been owned by my family ever since it was given to my great-great-10 great-grandmother Defile by a French man who had kept her as a slave.

The old woman’s index finger trembled as it moved towards the Madonna’s head. She closed her eyes at the moment of contact, her wrists shaking.

“Where are you from?” she asked. She had layers of ‘respectable’ wrinkles on her face, the kind my mother might also have one day, if she had a chance to survive.

15 “I am from Ville Rose,” I said.

“You’re here to see a prisoner?” she asked.

“Yes.”

“I know where you can buy some very good food for this person.”

She led me by the hand to a small alley where a girl was selling fried pork and plantains wrapped in brown 20 paper. I bought some meat for my mother after asking the cook to fry it once more and then sprinkle it with spiced cabbage.

The yellow prison building was like a fort, as large and strong as in the days when it was used by the American marines who had built it. The prison yard was as quiet as a cave when a young Haitian guard escorted me there to wait. The smell of the fried pork mixed with that of urine and excrement was almost 25 unbearable. I sat on a pile of rocks trying to keep the Madonna from sliding through my fingers.

The other prisoners had not yet woken up. All the better, for I did not want to see them, these thin-boned women with shorn heads, carrying clumps of their hair in their bare hands, as they sought the few rays of sunshine that they were allowed each day.

My mother had grown even thinner since the last time I had seen her. Her face looked like the grey of a 30 late evening sky. These days, her skin barely clung to her bones, falling in layers, flaps on her face and neck. The prison guards watched her more closely because they thought that the wrinkles resulted from her taking off her skin at night and then putting it back on, in a hurry, before sunrise. This is why mother's sentence had been extended to life. And when she died, her remains were to be burnt in the prison yard, to prevent her spirit from wandering into any young innocent bodies.

 - (D) unwell and feared by her jailors

Items 51–60

Instructions: Read the following passage carefully and then answer Items 51–60.

When Fourth Mistress, Lotus, was carried into the Chen family garden on a sedan chair she was nineteen. The servants were washing some old yarn by the side of the well when they saw a young college girl, dressed in a white blouse and black skirt, step down from the chair, her face covered with dust and looking unbearably exhausted. A rattan suitcase was placed horizontally beneath her black skirt. In the autumn sunlight, Lotus's slender figure appeared tenuous and delicate, she looked as dull and lifeless as a paper doll.

5 Lotus walked over to the edge of the well and spoke to Swallow, who was washing yarn. "Let me wash my face. I haven't washed my face in three days."
Swallow drew a pail of water for her and watched her plunge her face into the water; Lotus's arched-over body shook uncontrollably like a waist drum played by some unseen hands. Swallow asked, "Do you want some soap?" Lotus did not speak.

Swallow made a face in the direction of the other maidservants standing around the well, covered her mouth and laughed. Just then Lotus gave Swallow a sidelong glance and said, "Don't just stand there laughing like a fool, wipe the water off my face!"
Swallow kept on laughing. "Who do you think you are, acting so fierce?"
15 Lotus pushed Swallow away violently, picked up her rattan suitcase and walked away from the well; she walked a few paces, turned to face the servants, and said, "Who am I? You'll all find out, sooner or later."

The following day everyone in the Chen household learned that Old Master Chen had taken Lotus as his Fourth Mistress. Chen gave Swallow, who had been living in the servants' quarters, to Fourth Mistress as her private bondmaid. When Swallow went to see Lotus, she was afraid; she lowered her head as she called out,
20 "Fourth Mistress." Lotus pulled Swallow over in front of her, examined her carefully for a minute, and said to Chen, "At least she doesn't look too dreadful." Then she spoke to Swallow, "Squat down: let me look at your hair."
Swallow squatted down and felt Lotus's hands picking through her hair, then she heard Lotus say, "You don't have lice, do you? I'm terribly afraid of lice."
25 Swallow bit her lip and did not speak; she felt Lotus's hands, like the ice-cold blade of a knife, cutting into her hair, hurting her slightly. Lotus said, "What's in your hair? Smells terrible; take some perfumed soap and hurry over and wash your hair."

Swallow stood there motionless, with her hands hanging down. Chen glared at her. "Didn't you hear what Fourth Mistress said?"
30 Swallow said, "I just washed my hair yesterday."
Chen yelled at her, "Don't argue about it; if she tells you to go wash, you go wash. Careful I don't beat you."

Swallow poured out a pan of water and washed her hair under the crab apple trees. She felt she'd been horribly wronged; hatred and anger pressed on her heart like an iron weight. The afternoon sun shone down on the two crab apple trees; a clothesline was strung between them, and Fourth Mistress white blouse and black skirt were waving in the breeze. Swallow looked all around; the back garden was completely quiet, and 35 no one was there. She walked over to the uniform on the clothesline, spat right on Lotus's white blouse, then turned and spat again on her black skirt.

PAPER 02 - GENERAL PROFICIENCY

MARK SCHEME

SECTION A - DRAMA

Please note that these sectionionalizing of these essays are for convenience to ensure that the three main areas of the questions are covered and not intended to be replicated in writing an essay, which for our purposes should be written in continuous prose.

Question 1The Tempest – William Shakespeare

"The Tempest is an exploration of different types of relationships."

Write an essay in which you describe TWO different types of relationships in the play. In this essay, you must discuss ONE theme that is portrayed in any ONE of the relationships described, and examine ONE dramatic technique Shakespeare uses to present relationships in the play as a whole.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited. There are three main areas to be covered in this essay.

Firstly, the candidate is expected to identify and describe two different relationships.

The play offers a range of relationships. Since the question asks for two different relationships, it is advised that the two selected should not be of the same type/category. Candidates may choose two relationships but not from the same category. Relationships fall in the following categories:

- Master/servant

Prospero/Caliban

In this master/slave relationship, Prospero verbally and physically abuses Caliban, who is reduced to performing manual work (fetching wood, making the fire). This uneven power relationship was not evident at the outset. When the shipwrecked

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

Prospero landed on his island, Caliban offered him needed hospitality. Prospero who is now in control of the island, uses his magical powers to manipulate and control Caliban. Though fearful of his master, Caliban is resentful and curses him, and capitalizes on the first opportunity to be part of a plot to murder him.

Prospero/Ariel

This master/servant relationship is one in which Ariel too is manipulated by Prospero. He is his "right hand helper" in the world of the spirits. Ariel is beholden to Prospero for rescuing him from the torments Caliban's mother placed on him and obeys him primarily because he promises him his freedom if he works willingly.

Stephano, Trinculo/Caliban

This relationship mirrors the Prospero/Caliban one, except that all concerned are united in their effort to unseat Prospero and reclaim/claim the island. Caliban easily switches allegiance to his new masters/friends but the power relationship remains the same.

- Father/daughter

Prospero and Miranda

Prospero's over protectiveness of Miranda is displayed in the ways in which he shields her from her past; prescribes her education and selects the suitor for her. For twelve years he was her protector and teacher on the secluded island, and Miranda, the dutiful daughter.

- Siblings

Prospero and Antonio

Sibling rivalry results in Prospero losing his position as Duke of Milan and barely escaping death. After twelve years, the tables are turned. While Antonio and his entourage are coming from a wedding en route to Italy, Prospero orchestrates a tempest which causes them to be shipwrecked on 'his' island. Antonio appears to be still power hungry.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

- Love

Ferdinand and Miranda

The only romantic love relationship in the play is between Ferdinand and Miranda. Although the relationship is arranged by Prospero, the young lovers appear to find each other attractive at first sight and enjoy each other's company (seen later when they are happily playing a game of chess). Ferdinand is obedient and willingly subjects himself to menial work (fetching wood as Caliban is cursed to do) in order to please Miranda's father.

The candidate is also expected to identify and discuss a theme which is portrayed in one of the relationships.

The following is not an exhaustive list but are some common themes:

Supernatural/magic – Prospero's power is anchored in his magic, his books and his intellect. He leverages this power in his relationships with Caliban, Ariel and to some degree, with his daughter Miranda.

Power/control/ownership – This theme is manifested in ways such as Prospero's relationship with his servants/slaves; Caliban being stripped of his land; sibling rivalry (Prospero and Antonio) as in the power struggle which resulted in the usurpation.

Revenge – The main characters have just cause for seeking revenge: Caliban's resentment at being exploited and wanting to reclaim his island and Prospero's plan to confront his brother.

Betrayal – At the heart of the relationship between Prospero and Caliban is betrayal. At first Prospero treats Caliban well ("When thou cam'st first,/Thou strok'st me, and made much of me; wouldst give me/Water with berries in 't"). Caliban reciprocates and shows him the 'qualities' of the island. Then this relationship shifts from visitor/host to master/slave.

The candidate is expected to examine one dramatic technique Shakespeare used to portray these relationships.

Dramatic irony – There are many instances in which the audience or one of the characters on stage knows something that the other

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

(on stage) does not. This kind of 'ignorance' is what engenders irony, which creates humour, builds suspense and increases audience involvement. For example, after Prospero recounts how their escape and survival were due to Gonzalo's generosity, Miranda remarks that she would love to see him and thank him in person. Of course, the audience knows that he is now shipwrecked on the same island but she does not know this.

This device is used to strengthen the portrayal of the various relationships as the audience sees how differently characters act towards each other and some of the things that motivate them to act.

The use of the title - The title is significant in its meaning... storms/tempests. It is symbolic of conflicts and tensions in the relationships. The storm created/contrived by Prospero is one in which the various characters meet and mingle. Motives are exposed. Conflicts are resolved, eventually.

Symbols - The storm, the island, the figures of the masters and slaves are relevant in our appreciation of relationships in the play. For nations that have been enslaved and for island peoples, these symbols take on greater significance as they relate to the relationships of those who wield power and those who are without it.

Setting - The island and its associations with isolation can forge unlikely relationships in the name of survival. The uneasy relationship between Caliban and Prospero and to some degree, Ariel and Prospero, lends itself to the island setting of visitor and host and later when the power shifts, to master/owner and servant.

Motifs - Storm, water, books form part of the pattern (and backdrop) of relationships that are portrayed.

Any other reasonable points/interpretations must be credited accordingly.

Question 2Ti-Jean and His Brothers – Derek Walcott

"A dominant theme in Ti -Jean and His Brothers is good versus evil."

Write an essay in which you describe TWO incidents in which the conflict between good and evil is presented. In this essay, you must also discuss how the MAIN characters are affected in ONE of the incidents, and examine ONE technique that Walcott uses to present the theme of good versus evil in the play.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

There are three main areas to be covered in this essay. The candidate is expected to describe TWO incidents in which there is a conflict between good and evil.

There are many levels of the conflict between good and evil. In this play, the devil, the orchestrator of evil, is a master of disguises. Therefore, the conflict between good and evil is most obvious in the encounters between the three brothers and the devil (in his various manifestations). Any two of the three encounters are appropriate for discussion.

- The first encounter portrays Gros Jean, the oldest son. His mother warns him against evil and the various faces of evil: "The Devil can hide in several features..." But being overconfident in his physical strength, he misses the subtlety of the devil. Gros Jean is impatient and relies solely on his physical prowess. His impatience is his undoing as the devil/old man masquerading as the planter (his new boss) goads him into losing his temper and consequently, his life.
- Mi Jean is the next to meet the devil. His mother also warns him ('no one can know what the Devil wears'). Ironically, when he does meet the devil, he miscalculates, thinking that he (the devil) would not reveal himself so soon. Relying on his 'book' knowledge and his strategy of silence, Mi Jean pits himself against the devil. His many attempts to 'fix' the goat and keep his temper intact prove too much and he too, falls victim to the wiles of the devil.

- Accepting his mother's teaching that "our life is God's own" and asking for her prayer and assuming the mantra of David ("I go bring down, bring down Goliath"), Ti Jean enters the forest. Outwitting the devil (confirming his cloven hoofs and tail) Ti Jean further demands his confession (the unmasking to reveal the devil's face). Eventually, it is the devil who loses his temper as Ti Jean outwits him (neutering the goat and burning down the cane fields and house).

The candidate is expected to discuss how the main characters are affected in one of the incidents.

Although they take different turns, the encounters between Gros Jean, Mi Jean and the devil have similar results, in that both brothers succumb to the wiles of the devil, who is the personification of evil. Both fail to 'see' evil even though they were warned by their mother about guises/disguises. In both instances, the brothers lose the verbal, intellectual and psychological battle with the devil. Whether their demise was in the form of physical death or not, both brothers fared badly because they did not appreciate the strength of their mother (symbol of spirituality) or the value of folk wisdom (embodied in the creatures in the forest).

Ti Jean enters the forest armed to meet and win the devil at his game. He asks for his mother's blessing and heeds her advice. He endears himself to the creatures of the forest and they reciprocate by assisting him in getting the better of the devil. He has no airs, sees himself as the underdog (the David facing Goliath) and puts his problem-solving skills to work. His victory is predicted in the prologue, "God put him in that height/to be the sun's right hand/And light the evil dark..." a tale of how an unassuming lad outwits the devil. Since evil cannot be 'killed', the devil is last seen warning Ti Jean that they will meet again.

The candidate is required to discuss one technique that Walcott uses to present the theme in the play.

This is not an exhaustive list. Candidates may choose one of the following.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

The play can be seen as an allegory and to some degree, a fable. In many instances, the story is an 'old' one, in its presentation of good versus evil. What makes it nuanced is its 'Caribbeanness'— elements of folklore, history and language/diction. The three brothers and their fate speak to both extremes on the one hand, with the third brother having the 'right fit' (Ti Jean). There are resonances of a fairy tale, with the typical hero and ogre. What makes this tale different and real is that although evil is confronted and 'managed', it is not destroyed. Consequently, the 'happily ever after' idea is challenged.

Verbal exchanges underlie the presentation of good and evil. The language is such that much of the discourse between the devil and the brothers is one of repartee. Mi Jean's half-baked intellect gets the brunt of the devil's ridicule as well. Humour (from the subtlest word play to the more obvious) not only generates interest but reinforces the theme.

History is used to enhance the play and strengthen the theme of good versus evil. References to "white planter", "white house", "estate", "sugar-cane field", "tobacco", evoke the experiences of slavery and colonialism. It is not by chance that the devil easily transitions from his "planter" mask to his "devil" self.

Elements of folk wisdom and folk culture are important in the play in its presentation of good versus evil. Music (the drums, the flute, the onomatopoeic sounds of the creatures, chants) contributes to the setting and mood and helps in defining characters. The story-telling medium; the call and response and idiomatic expressions engage the audience in the thematic presentation.

Any other reasonable points/interpretations must be credited accordingly.

SECTION B – POETRYQuestion 3

“‘My Parents’ and ‘Little Boy Crying’ explore childhood experiences.”

Write an essay in which you describe the experience of EACH child. In this essay, you must discuss how the child in EACH poem feels about the other persons involved in the experience, and examine ONE device that is used to present the child’s experience in EACH poem.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates’ responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

There are three main areas to be covered in this essay. Firstly, the candidate is expected to describe the experience of the child in each poem; secondly, the candidate is expected to discuss the feelings of the child about the other persons involved and finally, the candidate must examine one device from each poem which is used to present the experience.

Experience of the child

In “My Parents” the child recounts his attempts at fitting in with a group of children who are different; apparently they are from a lower social class. They are pictured as wild and free-spirited--they climb cliffs and they played in the country stream. The child’s parents try to prevent him from playing with these children.

“Little Boy Crying”

The child has been punished by the father because he was playing in the rain. The child seems to be offended by the father’s actions because he feels hurt. Through his frustrated tears the child looks at his father hoping to make him feel guilty and sorry for hitting him but that does not happen.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

Feelings of the child

The child has mixed feelings about the other boys in "My Parents". He fears their physical strength – they have "muscles like iron" and "jerking hands" as well as their "salt coarse pointing" and the way they mimicked his lisp. The children also startle and throw mud at him. All of these actions show why his parents might try to keep him away from these children. However, there is a degree of admiration for the children because they seem tough and fearless. As a result, the child looks away from their cruelty and hopes to forgive them but the children do not appear to have similar feelings about him.

There is a sense too that the child does not approve of his parents' protective nature but he understands why they are that way.

In "Little Boy Crying" the child seems to hate the father because of the punishment and sees him as an ogre who towers over him and takes advantage of his three-year-old child. The child feels powerless but can do nothing in his defense.

Finally, the candidate is expected to identify and discuss a device used in each poem to present the child's experience.

Devices used to present the experience of the childAny ONE of the following devices in "My Parents":

Irony – It is ironic that the child who is treated in such a cruel manner by the children wants to forgive the same children who torment and ridicule him. He longs to be a part of their world. Also, while he wants to forgive them, these children never smiled at him, thus maintaining the barriers between them.

Simile –The words shouted at the child are compared with stones that can inflict physical pain ("words like stones"). The impact of this simile suggests that the words cause deep damage as they inflict emotional pain on the child and this seems to have a more traumatic effect than the physical pain would.

"[M]uscles like iron" – The children's muscles are compared with iron, one of the strongest metals. This emphasizes the children's physical strength (compared to the child's) and their ability to inflict physical pain on the child. This physical comparison deepens the inequity between the children and the boy and furthers the distance separating the children and this child.

"They sprang like dogs to bark at my world" – The children are compared to dogs that bark at strangers/outsideers. The act of barking emphasizes their teasing and cruel behaviour as well as their attempt to keep the child from invading their world. Barking dogs also suggest protection of territory against invaders. The children perhaps know they will never be accepted in the boy's social class and their "bark" might be their strategy to keep him away, even as they ridicule his world/way of life.

Any ONE of the following devices in "Little Boy Crying":

Allusion – The events in the poem allude to the fairy tale, Jack and the Beanstalk. It compares the father (the ogre) with the giant in the story whom the little Jack (the victim) has to kill in order to live. In the story, Jack chops down the beanstalk while in the poem the speaker points out that the little boy imagines chopping down the tree as a way of retaliating against his punishment.

Metaphor – "[L]aughter metamorphosed into howls" – This emphasizes the suddenness of the child's change from laughter to tears and compares his crying with an animal howling. The contrasting sounds of laughter and wailing and contrasting emotions of happiness and sadness/anger are significant as they cement the movement from one to another.

"[A]ngling for a moment's hint" – This metaphor compares the child's attempt to coerce sympathy from the father as fisherman would to dangling his bait to catch fish. It suggests the psychological tool the child uses on his father to achieve his desired effect and therefore hints that the boy may be trying to trick the father with his tears.

"[T]he ogre towers above you, that grim giant" – This shows the comparison of the father with an ogre/giant both in terms of physical size and in terms of his ability to inflict pain on his victim. It emphasizes that the child feels that he is at an unfair advantage and has been punished unnecessarily.

Irony – The child is very hurt as he has been punished but cannot understand the father's pain at having to hit him. While the child sees the father as an ogre, the father is hurt by the son's pain. He wavers and thinks about playing with his child but must not cave in or the important lesson will not be learnt. Essentially, both are hurting (even this ogre) in this lesson of life. The child though, is unable to understand or even appreciate this.

Write an essay in which you outline EACH speaker's dreams OR desires. In this essay, you must discuss the speaker's attitude to the obstacle that affects the achievement of the dreams OR desires in EACH poem, and examine ONE device that is used to explore dreams OR desires in EACH poem.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

The candidate must select from the prescribed list two suitable poems that can be used to respond to the question. Candidates must be careful in their selection and ensure that the poems chosen will provide them with sufficient content to respond adequately to the question.

TWO of the poems from the prescribed list that may be used to respond to the question are presented as samples here are "Once Upon a Time" and "Dreaming Black Boy."

Firstly, for each poem, the candidate is expected to outline the speaker's dreams or desires. Secondly, the candidate is expected to discuss the speaker's attitude to the obstacles that affects the achievement of this dream and finally, the candidate is expected to discuss a device that is used to explore dream or desires in each poem.

MARK SCHEME

Speaker's dream OR desire

In the poem "Once Upon a Time" the speaker, a parent, laments about the stark reality of adulthood and reminisces on childhood innocence. He longs to return to a time when people were sincere in their actions and when a smile was genuine. Ironically, he admits to being a part of the hypocrisy shown by other adults but points out that changes in the political and social milieu have forced him to move away from the innocence of his youth.

In "Dreaming Black Boy" the black boy dreams of being accepted by his teacher, who is a representative of the dominant class (white people). This teacher is unable or unwilling to see him beyond the colour of his skin. Consequently, his ambitious dreams are overshadowed by a teacher who has a different view of what his future should be.

Speaker's attitude

The speaker in "Once Upon a Time" seems to be critical of the society that has caused him to become hypocritical. Now his smiles are not sincere and he parrots the expected responses that are deceptive. He longs to return to the time when such deception was unnecessary.

The speaker in "Dreaming Black Boy" seems to be disappointed in and resentful of his teacher. He despairs because his teacher is indifferent to him and does not see past his skin colour. This situation is also reflected in the wider society where oppression and prejudice reign in all aspects of life and seem to box him into subservient roles despite his hopes and dreams.

Devices used to explore dreams or desires in the selected poems:

"Once Upon a Time"

Allusion- "Once Upon a Time" - the poem alludes to the traditional fairy tale in which good always wins and the bad elements are removed. However, in this case the opposite obtains so the story he tells his son does not end with a sense of happiness or justice. Nevertheless, he still desires a return to innocence.

Simile - "conforming smiles like a fixed portrait smile" - The speaker's smiles are compared with smiles usually seen in portraits when the tendency may be to create a smile for effect.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

It may not be genuine. The "conforming smiles" are symbolic of the way the speaker has conformed to the norms of society and portrayed the lack of sincerity seen in adults.

Animal imagery/Simile – "my teeth like a snake's bare fangs" – The baring of teeth that can be endearing in a genuine smile is compared with a snake baring its fangs, thus signaling danger. The image emphasizes the hypocrisy of adults who bare their teeth pretending to smile when their thoughts may be the opposite of what they are attempting to portray.

Contrast – In the poem, there is a contrast of the sincerity of innocent laughter and the deception of the adult smile. This contrast emphasizes the adult's deceptive nature that can almost be considered unnatural since they started off like the children with innocent smiles.

Metaphor – "ice-block-cold eyes" – The coldness seen in the adult's eyes is compared with ice. It emphasizes just how cold and unfeeling adults are with their deceptive gestures and words and also serves as a contrast to the genuine and sincere behaviour of children.

Irony – It is ironic that while the speaker is lamenting about the hypocrisy of adults he admits that he too practices the deceptive gestures and utters the deceptive words. However, in the story he recounts to his son he implies that he dreams of returning to that innocent period in his life.

"Dreaming Black Boy"

Allusion – to slavery, "I'm no woodchopper now like all ancestors" and to the Klu Klux Klan, "torch throwers of the night", "plotters in pajamas".

The persona alludes to historical symbols of oppression and implies that although those periods of oppression have passed, the impact remains for he is still denied the opportunity to be educated, to travel freely or achieve success like Paul Robeson, even though his success was hard won. These historical events still impact on his dream for a future that does not include subservient roles.

Repetition – "I wish". The repetition emphasizes the persona's longing to achieve his dream of a life free of oppression and discrimination. It also emphasizes his dream of a life that does not include subservience to any class of people or menial jobs.

ENGLISH B

Imagery - "[S]ink to lick boots". The image of licking boots evokes subservience that his ancestors endured and which he may have to experience since the oppression has not been removed with the passage of time. It goes totally against his dream to achieve more than his ancestors and to have a future that goes beyond menial jobs.

Contrast - In the poem the teacher's view of the boy contrasts with his ambition to have a future with unlimited possibilities instead of being boxed into a life of humiliating and demeaning jobs. Inherent in this contrast is the physical impact of the colour coding of black/white relationships.

Metaphor - "[M]y inside eye a sun". The speaker's intelligence and hopes are compared with the sun. It highlights the idea that the speaker can have a bright future and also serve as a light for others with similar ambitions to achieve more than the accustomed menial jobs that were historically reserved for his ancestors.

"Educated to the best of tune up" - The speaker's education/intelligence is compared with a car being serviced/tuned up for maximum performance. It emphasizes that his education has provided him with skills or abilities that can take him beyond menial jobs. Tuning will enable mobility and a readiness to move up when the occasion or opportunity arises.

SECTION C – PROSE

To Kill a Mockingbird – Harper LeeQuestion 5

"To Kill a Mockingbird is a coming-of-age novel in which Jem and Scout learn some important lessons about life."

Write an essay in which you describe TWO incidents that teach the children an important lesson. In this essay, you must also discuss how ONE of the incidents affects the children, and examine ONE narrative technique the writer uses to present important lessons about life.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

Firstly, the candidate is expected to describe TWO incidents that teach the children an important lesson and for each incident, discuss the impact on the children.

The following is not exhaustive but is offered as a guide in considering significant incidents that can be used in answering the essay:

Incident: The killing of the mad dog

A mad dog had been terrorizing the neighbourhood and everyone was afraid. When the dog, walking down the street and foaming at the mouth had everyone inside for fear of being hurt, Atticus walks out into the middle of the street and with one shot kills the dog. Jem and Scout are shocked at their father's skill as previously he had seemed to be old, boring and useless. However, other members of the community are not surprised because they had been previously exposed to Atticus's prowess as a sharp shooter.

Impact: The incident teaches the children important lessons. They learn that even though a person is a great shot he should not be using his skill to hurt others. It also shows them that often outward appearances may not be a reflection of a person. As a result, they develop a different kind of respect for their father.

Incident: The filling of the knothole

Boo Radley had a reputation of being an evil recluse who hurt children. He was feared by all children. However, Jem and Scout eventually learn that rumours about him may not be true. They begin communicating with him through the exchange of items in the knothole of a tree in the yard. This is stopped when Boo Radley's brother fills in the hole and effectively cuts off 'communication' between Boo and the children. Even though there was no physical contact between the children and Boo at this stage in the novel, Jem is very hurt by Nathan's actions.

Impact: This incident teaches the children that often adults and other persons in authority serve as obstacles to friendship and other positive relationships. It also teaches them that children are not necessarily the only ones who are vulnerable.

Incident: Jem reading to Mrs Dubose

Jem and Scout were annoyed by Mrs Dubose's mean-spirited nature and one day in a fit of anger Jem destroys her prized flowers. As a punishment for his actions, Atticus forces Jem to read to Mrs Dubose every day until her death. It is only after her passing that Atticus reveals that Mrs Dubose was addicted to the morphine she had been using to manage the pain from her illness. She wanted to overcome her addiction and die free of the drug so Jem's reading assisted her by distracting her from the temptation to take the drugs.

Impact: From the incident the children learn what true courage looks like. Mrs. Dubose could have easily continued using the morphine but she was brave enough to allow the pain so that she could die free from her addiction.

Incident: Scout's experience at school

When Scout goes to school for the first time she has to adjust to the routine and to deal with a teacher who is clueless about the reality in which some of her poorer students live. Scout, who is accustomed to being outspoken and is accustomed to a particular lifestyle, encounters Walter Cunningham, who comes from a poor family. She hits him and is punished. Jem invited him for lunch and when he pours molasses on his food Scout is shocked. Calpurnia punishes her for her outburst.

ENGLISH B
MARK SCHEME

Impact: From this incident, Scout learns that she will not understand people unless she understands their perspective. This lesson stems from the incident with Walter as well as other experiences at school. Scout learns how the poor folk in the society lives. Walter does not have the social skills displayed at the Finch household but he can discuss farming with Atticus as any man can. She is able to see him in a different light and possibly begins to respect him.

Incident: Tom Robinson's trial

Tom Robinson, a black man, was accused of raping Mayella Ewell, a poor white girl. Although the evidence clearly showed that Tom Robinson did not commit the crime, an all-white jury declared him guilty. Justice was not served but the mere fact that the jury spent some time deliberating on the case signals the chance for the society to move beyond racism and value people for their true worth.

Impact: The incident showed the children how racism affects the society. They see that colour blindness can negate a man's worth and that can be irrational. Tom Robinson is actually portrayed as a better man than Mr Ewell who probably beat his daughter; yet Tom is punished because as a black man he dared to help a white woman.

Another important lesson is that moral justice is often at odds with legal justice. Morally, it was wrong to convict Tom Robinson because he did not commit the crime he was accused of by the Ewells. On this basis, he should have been freed of the charges. However, because racism is so prevalent in Maycomb County, the laws institutionalize racism and affect how justice is served.

The essay also requires candidates to examine ONE narrative technique used to present important lessons about life.

Candidates may select any of the following narrative techniques:

Irony

Throughout the novel Harper Lee uses irony to highlight some of the major themes and issues in the society. The following are some examples of irony:

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

- The children's school experiences

When Scout begins school she is already able to read while most of her peers cannot. Instead of the teacher praising her, she criticizes her and says that her father should not teach her. This incident is one that makes Scout feel that school is a waste of time and she does not want to continue.

Another ironic incident occurs when Ms Gates tells her class, "There are no better people in the world than Jews, and why Hitler does not think so is a mystery to me." While she criticizes Hitler for discriminating against the Jews because of their race, ironically she is just as guilty of the same thing. Like many members of the society, she discriminates against the blacks in society but never compares their actions with Hitler's. On the day of the trial Scout overhears her saying that the black community needs to be taught a lesson because they were getting above themselves and might soon think they could marry white people.

- Justice

Justice is served in the streets instead of the court. Ironically, although the court is supposed to bestow justice when it is required, Tom Robinson does not enjoy that privilege because of his race. Even though at the trial the jury is presented with facts that prove Tom's innocence, they are unable to give a fair verdict. Ironically, a few members of society admit and believe in Tom's innocence and this is the only 'justice' he really receives since the people cannot go against the justice system.

- Bob Ewell

Bob Ewell is abusive and violent towards Mayella and the Finch children. It is ironic that he has forced his daughter to falsely accuse Tom Robinson of abusing her when in fact he seems to be the abusive one. He is able to get away with his abuse because of the colour of his skin. However, later justice is served after his attack on the Finch children. A man of his own race, Boo Radley, kills him and saves the children from further harm.

- Boo Radley

It is ironic that the very man whom society views as a threat is the one seen as a hero. When Bob Ewell attacks the Finch children as they were heading home after the concert, Boo Radley comes to their assistance and kills him. This shows that society's view of Boo Radley has been wrong and this is possibly what prompts Heck Tate to refuse to arrest him.

Contrast between characters

In the novel, contrast between characters is used to highlight the important themes and lessons the children learn as they grow. One example of this is the contrast between Tom Robinson and Bob Ewell. The obvious contrast is their skin colour and contrasts with the stereotypes of black being evil and white being good. Tom, the black man, is a good person. He helps Mayella and yet is wrongly accused of raping her. In contrast, Bob Ewell, the white man, is abusive towards his daughter and he forces her to accuse Tom Robinson of rape. She is torn between being honest on the one hand and telling a lie to condemn an innocent man, on the other. This contrast teaches the children about racism and prejudice in their community and how unfair it can be.

First person narration

The novel is narrated by an adult Scout Finch who recounts her childhood. In some parts of the novel there is an almost childlike recounting of incidents. The narration traces her growth and maturity as she recounts her view of people and society. Thus, the lessons both she and Jem learn show a gradual complexity as they experience the major issues that affect the Maycomb community such as racism, justice and social class.

Flashback is also used to portray these life lessons as through the naïve and youthful Scout, readers are made aware of the complexities of growing up in particular and life in general.

how ONE technique is used by the writer to explore mother-daughter relationships.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

Firstly, the candidate is expected to identify one mother-daughter relationship as in:

- Martine and her daughter Sophie
- Grandme Ife and one of her daughters Atie/ Martine
- Sophie and her daughter Brigette (this relationship ought not to be discussed because the traditional practice of testing which is the focus of this question has not been performed on Brigette who is just a baby).

Candidates must identify the main features of the particular mother-daughter relationship selected (the inherent conflict, tension, mother's sense of responsibility regarding preserving her daughter's purity, daughter's actions/ re-actions to her mother's actions)

Next, the candidate must describe a traditional practice involving mother and daughter.

The traditional practice to be examined is the testing, a ritual practice performed by Haitian mothers who test their daughters to make sure they are virgins. Testing is seen as a mother's responsibility in her attempt to keep her daughter pure but it has several repercussions both on their relationship and on other intimate relationships. The following effects are evident:

Physical

- Physical violation – Testing makes Sophie feel violated as her mother examines her hymen. This violation of her sexuality is akin to the rape her mother endured and although its purpose was different, the outcome is the same – both are violations of the human person leaving lasting and deep effects on the mind of the daughter.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

- Self-violence – In order to put an end to the testing, Sophie breaks her own hymen with an inanimate object. This is a painful and violent act but also a liberating one.

Psychosocial/psychological

- Body hatred – The continuous testing makes Sophie hate her own body and she feels no desire, hates her fatness after her daughter's birth and is never able to become naked in front of anyone or have a normal sexual relationship with her partner (Joseph).
- Creates sexual phobias – Sophie has an irrational response to the sex act which she endures because of her love for her partner, Joseph, but she does not know how to deal with her sexuality and engages in group therapy to assist her in this regard.
- Doubling – While Martine tests her teenaged daughter, Sophie practises a survival technique and escapes into a different world as she 'doubles', remembering pleasant memories of her life as she imagines beautiful things to keep her mind away from the pain she experiences with the testing. She develops the ability to separate her mind from her body.

Candidates must also discuss effects of this practice on the relationship.

Effects on the mother-daughter relationship

- Breaks communication – When Martine first meets her daughter, Sophie, at the airport she urges her to 'speak' but when she tests her for the first time, Sophie is silent throughout the ordeal and does not speak to her mother. Interestingly Sophie, the narrator, states "My mother rarely spoke to me since she began the tests."
- Creates distance – When the testing begins, Sophie is unable to communicate with her mother and she takes her own virginity, an act unknown to her mother but one which causes her to be put out of the house by her mother. This creates distance between mother and daughter.
- Imposes division and secrets – When Martine completes the test she tells Sophie that there are secrets one cannot keep yet after the first test Sophie deliberately engages in a secret life – she keeps the tests secret from Joseph, she keeps Joseph's marriage proposal from her mother just as she keeps secret her act of taking her own virginity.

- Imposes the burden of inheritance on women – Martine's mother (Grandme Ife) had tested her, Martine tests Sophie but it is clear that Sophie who understands the repercussions of the testing will break the cycle of inheritance of this tradition.

Finally, candidates must examine ONE technique used by the writer to explore the mother-daughter relationships, such as:

Symbolism – The novel opens with Sophie presenting a Mother's Day card to her Aunt Atie (her beloved guardian) with whom she lives in Haiti and Atie refusing to accept the card, insisting that it should be given to her biological mother, Martine (Atie's sister).

The card is covered in daffodils, Martine's favourite flower, a fact known to Sophie only because she had been told that by Atie for Sophie has only seen her mother in photographs. The symbol of the Mother's Day card, subtle and multi-layered in its significance suggests something of the displaced and mixed emotions Sophie harbours for her mother and the author uses this symbol to explore the complexity of the mother-daughter relationship.

Another symbol of the mother-daughter relationship is embodied in the story of the Marassas, told to Sophie by her mother during the first 'test'. The Marassas are two lovers who are so close they appear as one person but they are really two. The mother and daughter mirror each other and reflect each other and this symbolizes them as twins. Although Martine and Sophie do not look like each other they are each other's double/ twin.

Parallelism, Contrast and Comparison – When the 12-year old Sophie meets her mother for the first time, Martine is described as 'scrawny' and years later, when Sophie returns to Haiti as a woman, having undergone testing and other experiences, she now suffers from bulimia. Repeatedly throughout the novel, Sophie and Martine are compared and contrasted and Aunt Atie tells Sophie how much she is like her own mother, Martine. Just as Sophie's testing is not unlike Martine's rape although their purpose is quite different, Martine's phobias, experiences, demons and dreams are shared by her daughter, Sophie.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

Dream Imagery – Even before Sophie leaves Haiti to meet her mother in New York, she has a recurrent nightmare in which her mother chases her through a field of wildflowers. This recurrent dream imagery embodies the conflicting relationship between mother and daughter.

Use of language through Parables/ Storytelling – Although Sophie narrates the story and Atie is the first to tell a parable in the novel, during the first test which Martine performs on her daughter Sophie, Martine tells her the story about the Marassas, the mythical lovers who are so close they share one soul. The storytelling is used to distract Sophie and parables and stories are used to discuss any issue that is too difficult to express or confront directly. These parables embody the truth but do not explain it.

Any other reasonable points/interpretations must be credited accordingly.

SHORT STORY

A WORLD OF PROSE FOR CSEC – David Williams and Hazel Simmons-McDonald

Question 7

"The stories 'The Day the World Almost Came to an End' and 'Blood Brothers' are both stories about fear."

Write an essay in which you describe the situation that gave rise to the fear in EACH story. In this essay, you must also discuss the impact of the fear experienced, and examine how point of view is used in EACH story to present the theme of fear.

Note

The following mark scheme provides some of the points that candidates may use in couching their responses. This mark scheme is not an exhaustive list or a full response to the questions asked. Candidates' responses will provide other relevant points not considered here which must be credited.

Firstly, candidates must describe the situation/source of the fear in each story.

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

The source of fear demonstrated in each of the stories is different. In "The Day the World Almost Came to an End" the source is external, the result of an apocalyptic prophecy which gave rise to the fear experienced by the narrator, a 12-year-old girl who lives on a plantation in Louisiana in 1936 where a fundamentalist religion dominates in a community that is "close to the earth and God, and all wrapped up in religion". The girl's parents are churchgoing Christians (her father is a deacon) but the girl claims that despite all this, she was still holding on to being a sinner.

Late one Friday afternoon, while playing at making mud cabins with her foot, the narrator's cousin Rena warns her in a panic that the world was going to end on Sunday when an eclipse was expected. The narrator quickly recalls all the hell-fire sermons she had heard and fearful that the world might really end and find her a sinner admits that her mind was 'loaded down'. She wants to ask her father about the possibility of the world ending but has to wait until he arrives from ploughing the fields that night. When he comes home, she runs out to meet him and tells him about the end of the world gossip but he simply laughs it off, assuring her that only God knows when the world would end.

Unappeased by her father's dismissive attitude and worried sick, the narrator goes to bed expecting a calamity and her imagination takes full control. Therefore, when she hears a distant rumbling, which she knows is not thunder but which grows louder and more terrible with each passing second, she truly believes at that moment that the world is ending and fear propels her to leap from her bed, yelling that the world is ending. She runs out of the house in her nightgown screaming and people come out of their cabins to find out what the problem is, but she keeps on running and screaming, unable and unwilling to hear what the people are saying to her.

Finally, the narrator's father who is returning from a church meeting sees her running down the road and catches hold of her, telling her that what she is hearing is an old airplane and not the ending of the world. His words finally got through the fear that "fogged" her mind. Her father wraps her in his coat, she cries and as they walk home she feels 'a new kind of happiness', an awareness of life and all its beauty.

In "Blood Brothers" the source of the fear is internal, the result of the inner conflict experienced by Paul, a 13-year-old boy whose love for his twin brother Benjy is intertwined with a powerful resentment that has turned into hate. Paul believes that Benjy sees him as a coward and he sees Benjy as having an "insufferable complex of superiority". Paul believes that Benjy was able to do everything better than he, he even learnt to whistle before him and whilst he thinks about these things "his heart filled with a full-blooded hate for his blood brother."

"Paul hated Benjy with a bitter, passionate venom and with all his heart's fierceness, he hated and despised himself for hating him." But as much as he claimed to hate Benjy, Paul also admired Benjy's daring, his acts of heroism, his lack of fear and his recklessness, his popularity, his smile. Paul's hate frightens Paul himself and when Benjy innocently asks him to go with him to visit the shoemaker's shop, they go there together and while Paul is pushing the awl through the leather and pulling it out again, Benjy asks Paul to join him in play. As Benjy touches Paul the accumulated jealousy and the pent-up hate and fear and envy makes him blind with anger. With one violent push he hurls Benjy into a corner and stands over him, "the awl poised in his right hand for a swift murderous blow". At that moment, he sees the incomprehension in Benjy's face and for the first time, he sees fear in Benjy's eyes. He drops the awl and turns away "confused and frightened by the violence of his action, but purged of hate, and happy in the discovery that his brother also knew fear."

Next, the candidate is expected to discuss the impact of fear. Fear has both an internal and external impact on the protagonists in each story as well as the other characters with whom they interact.

Self-loathing - In "Blood Brothers", fear of himself which springs from his bitter venomous thoughts about his twin brother

ENGLISH B

MARK SCHEME

Benjy results in Paul's self-loathing since "he hated and despised himself for hating him".

Acute self-awareness and self-centeredness – Paul, who is acutely aware of his own inadequacies, when he compares himself to Benjy, sees himself in the way he believes Benjy sees him – as a coward – and possibly amplifies these inadequacies through his repetitive fear of failure. Like Paul, the girl narrator in "The Day the World Almost Came to an End" is self-absorbed, self-centred and so completely focused on her experience of the world that when she believes the world is ending she takes flight, ignoring everyone including her mother and the neighbours outside their cabins. She does not consider that the apocalyptic prophecy may have an impact on others as well, for she is completely focused on how it affects her.

Violence/ Irrational behaviour – Fear can provoke an intense violent reaction that is not a reasoned response to the given situation so when Benjy pleads with Paul to play a game, Paul's pent-up hatred makes him fly into a rage and he takes up the awl to kill his brother. His violent response surprises even him as he seeks to fight his brother. When the girl believes the world is ending she takes flight. She admits later that the fear "fogged up" her mind, making her thinking unclear and her behaviour irrational – sentiments that Paul can also relate to.

Growth, confusion and fright – Fear can wreak havoc with one's imagination. The girl imagines all sorts of scenarios (about judgement and hell) just as Paul probably imagines and projects emotions unto Benjy that Benjy probably does not feel. Fear of failure incites Paul who is afraid of himself and his thoughts, and fear can grow into hate over time or into pure terror over trivial details.

Awareness of others/environment/life's complexity – Paul initially saw Benjy as superior in many ways and although he claimed to hate him, he put him on a pedestal. However, when he sees the fear in Benjy's eye following the awl incident, he realises that Benjy too knows fear and he is happy that Benjy has been reduced to his 'human' level. The girl narrator, after her flight and her experience of fear and terror the night she believes the world is ending, leads her to appreciate the gift of life and makes her resolve to enjoy it.

Finally, candidates must examine how point of view is used in each story to present the theme of fear.

While both stories delve into the theme of fear, both are narrated from different point of views. "The Day the World Almost Came to an End" is told from the first person point of view of an educated adult who recalls her childhood experience as a naive 12-year old girl, who is the central narrator and the protagonist in the story while "Blood Brothers" is narrated from the third person limited omniscient where the author has access only to the mind and feelings of one character (Paul).

The first person narrator opens the story by addressing readers directly in a conversational manner and an informal tone in "The Day the World Almost Came to an End." As the narrator relates the events of a particular experience of her childhood when she encounters real fear that turns into terror, her language shifts to the ideas of her 12 year old persona who shares her defiant adolescent thoughts regarding the religious influence around her. The reader experiences her fears and uncertainty about the doomsday prophecies and her great relief when the world did not end. This first person narrative is very effective in expressing the fear of the central narrator because it is very subjective and carries a natural ring of authenticity since the first person narrator has a unique voice, a peculiar manner of speaking/distinctive way of voicing her world by the words used to describe what is seen and the fear that is felt and in this case, the first person narration lends itself to a colloquial style with which readers can easily identify.

The third person narration of "Blood Brothers" is also very subjective and is limited to Paul's point of view. The narrative seems subjective in much the same way as a first person point of view used in "The Day the World Almost Came to an End." We hear, see and reflect on what Paul as a character hears, sees and reflects on but we are able to distance the perspective enough to note things about the character himself such as his obsession with sibling rivalry where he alone seems to be the sole competitor since Benjy, his blood brother, seems oblivious to the intense competition that Paul imagines they are engaged. As readers we also note Paul's observation of the natural environment (the trees, sky, sun) but also how he projects his own moods and insecurities on this environment so it reflects his perspective. The casuarina trees at night make him shudder and he is fearful so his ability to project himself upon the natural environment leaves readers to assume he does the same with his social environment and much of what he imagines of Benjy is his own emotional projection. In the third person subjective point of view we are intimately tied to Paul's perception throughout the story and to his own experience and interpretation of fear and are not privy to Benjy's experiences except those narrated to us through Paul, from his own biased perspective.

MARK SCHEME

The theme of fear is echoed in both "Blood Brothers" and "The Day the World Almost Came to an End" and while there are significant similarities in the experience of fear, there are also notable differences which arise from the different sources of this fear, the different genders who harbor the experience, the different impact it has on the characters and the different narrative perspectives from which the stories are told.

MARK SCHEME

The candidate must select from the prescribed list two suitable short stories that can be used to respond to the question. Candidates must be careful in their selection and ensure that the short stories chosen will provide them with sufficient content to respond adequately to the question.

The essay encourages candidates to cover the following:

- Select 2 appropriate stories set in rural/ country environments
- Provide a brief physical and social description of the rural setting (proof of rural environment), the story on which it is based, the time it took place and the characters involved in those stories
- Demonstrate the ability to identify how the setting in each story contributes to mood and characterization, identifying the similarities and differences of this in each story

The candidates must include in the description of the rural setting:

- The context of the rural environments (through words and customs) and evidence/ proof of rural setting
- Nature of the Place: Physical and Social description of the sort of place it is (its peculiarities, its social environment, how comfortable/ uncomfortable characters are in this setting)

Text 1 – Editorial from a Newspaper

DISCIPLINE IS AT THE CRUX OF THE ISSUE

It was triggered weeks ago when two female students wearing natural hair posted their pictures on Facebook complaining that their principal expressed disapproval of their hairstyles. In an interview with this newspaper, the principal said her only edict which she indicated clearly to students, was that they be neat and tidy in their school uniforms and that certain hairstyles were simply not appropriate for classes.

We endorse these comments by the principal, whose intention, it appears, is to set standards for the school she leads and the students in her charge. Students need to clearly understand there are rules that govern the regular operation of schools and those that speak to the deportment of those attending these institutions.

President of the National Council of Parent–Teacher Associations, put the issue into perspective when she said this was not about hair, but discipline and respect for rules.

We also agree with her on the point that schools are not just about the teaching of Mathematics and English. Schools help prepare students for life. From schools, students go on to the world of work and if they find it difficult to follow school rules, how will they fare on the job when there are regulations in place that must be obeyed?

While there are natural rights and freedoms which cannot be suppressed, children in school must conform to the standards set.

This issue came to the fore again just yesterday when this newspaper revealed that a new dress code was implemented for police officers banning them from wearing dreadlocks, make-up, extreme hair colour or having visible tattoos. Some police officers are reportedly upset by the new rules outlined in a section of the RBPF Policy on General Appearance of Police Officers dated January 15, 2015.

We do not believe the issue at hand is simply the wearing of natural hair. The larger point speaks to upholding discipline in society and the need for respect for rules and authority, whether it is in our schools or police force. Without these, we would be a lost society.

Text 2 – Song by India Arie

I am not my hair

Little girl with the press and curl
 Age eight I got a Jheri curl
 Thirteen I got a relaxer
 I was a source of so much laughter
 At fifteen when it all broke off
 Eighteen and went all natural
 February two thousand and two

I went and did
 What I had to do
 Because it was time to change my life
 To become the women that I am inside
 Ninety-seven dreadlock all gone
 I looked in the mirror
 For the first time and saw that HEY...

I am not my hair
 I am not this skin
 I am not your expectations no no
 I am not my hair
 I am not this skin
 I am a soul that lives within

What'd she do to her hair?
 I don't know it look crazy
 I like it. I might do that.
 Umm I wouldn't go that far.
 I know.. ha ha ha ha

Good hair means curls and wave
 Bad hair means you look like a slave
 At the turn of the century
 It's time for us to redefine who we be
 You can shave it off
 Like a South African beauty

Or get in on lock
 Like Bob Marley
 You can rock it straight
 Like Oprah Winfrey
 If it's not what's on your head
 It's what's underneath and they say HEY...

Text 3 – Poem by Sunkissed GemResilience

Perfectly patterned particles
push perpetually,
emerging: emancipated, elated,
enthusiastic.
Pushing proudly
up through layers upon layers of denial.
Past denaturing chemicals
and excessive heat;
curls emerge: triumphant.
Blatant refusal
to be ignored.
Blatant defiance of standards.
Despite countless chemicals
and incessant heat curls return:
a complexly simple statement
and reminder
of identity and culture.
Our hair is as our land is
EVER BEAUTIFULLY
RESILIENT.

Question 1

(a) While the three stimulus pieces chosen deal with the topic of the wearing of natural hair it is dealt with from varying perspectives. The editor who penned the newspaper editorial used the topic to address the issue of the need to conform to standards and show respect for rules and authority if we want to maintain discipline in our society. The poet's main issue is that wearing natural hairstyles is an expression of the person you are and it cannot be denied while in the lyrics to the song the point is being made that who you are is much more important than how you choose to style your hair.

(6 marks)

(b) In the song, the issue is presented through the use of rhythm, repetition of the idea of you being more than your hair, as well as the references made to well-known personalities. It is an entertaining way of dealing with a serious issue that would be appealing.

(3 marks)

(c) The writer in the article uses generalities, mentioning that students need to understand that there are rules that govern the regular operation of schools and officers are expected not to just uphold the law but to also uphold discipline. Since most people would tend to agree with these statements they are effective in persuading people to accept the argument.

In the poem, the first four lines make use of alliteration. This technique helps to add emphasis and causes the reader to pay attention to the message as it creates a pleasant rhythmic effect.

Question 2

(a) Three features that distinguish an oral presentation from a written presentation are:

- The speaker can gauge audience reaction and adjust his message accordingly
- It allows for audience interaction and clarification of misunderstandings
- The voice can be used to create a desired effect and this can help to promote understanding of the message

[2 x 3 = 6 marks]

(b) In a presentation on the issue of persons wearing natural hairstyles as an expression of who they are, I would make these three points:

- This promotes an understanding of cultural diversity
- The texture of the hair allows for creativity in developing distinguished hairstyles
- It is a choice which supports a healthy approach to the treatment of your hair

[1 x 3 = 3 marks]

(c) The oral presentation is being made to a group made up of:

- Females
- 14-16 years
- Participants in a cosmetology course

The following techniques would be used to hold the attention of the group.

- Integrate relevant, supportive, attractive visual aids, props and samples to heighten the interest and stimulate the imagination of the audience to the possibilities for natural hairstyles.
- Allow for audience participation through the use of 'hands up' feedback to questions giving them an opportunity to feel connected to the issue.
